Before you can seek destiny's star,
 You must first explore the star within

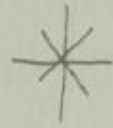

Life has no distinct definition. Everyone has his own philosophy or way of life. However, we each share a common understanding — the understanding of striving, reaching or grasping for a goal. Whether this goal is a career, an object, or the struggle for existence itself, each has suffered the agony of wanting, and too often the bitter taste of defeat. But even if, and when, we reach our destination, beyond that there lies another. A never ending circle has begun. For as there are many stars to make the constellations in the heavens, there are depths to be reached within the soul.

— Grace Ferrante

The background of the page is an abstract painting. In the upper left, there is a bright, multi-pointed starburst or compass rose-like shape, rendered in light grey and white, with rays of light extending outwards. The rest of the background is a dark, textured blue-grey, with numerous fine, white, diagonal streaks or scratches running across it. In the bottom right corner, there is a large, irregular, torn-paper-like shape in a warm, orange-brown color, which partially obscures the table of contents.

To reach deep down inside yourself,
To find a part of you.
To hold that part and keep it near,
forever, if it's true,
To express that part, with the world
to come,
And show them you are you.

STUDENT LIFE

Seniors work to fund Ellwoodian

The senior class held the annual magazine sale. The Ellwoodian Staff had several students and faculty members speak at the assembly. The class sponsors, Mr. Don Hollerman and Mr. Reed Brown, added a few words of wisdom, "Get Out There and Sell!" And the students did just that. The first collection day brought in $6,770.57, which surpassed last year by $1,257.25. The class of '81 ended their sale with a total of $22,155.55. John McElwain, top salesman, surpassed all other salesmen in Lincoln High School history by selling $1,022.32. Anne Rocco, who followed right behind John, sold $857.13 and also surpassed any other student. With the help of Anne, homeroom 316 came in first place. In the 316 raffle, Patti Scala won the dog, the first place mascot. In the 309 raffle Carol Fenechi won the frog, the second place mascot.

Seniors take on responsibilities

Many seniors are dedicated to taking on a parttime job. Working involves many responsibilities. They must show up on time everyday, and also display complete willingness to do as their employer asks. The school board has approved the privilege of seniors getting out a half day to go into the working world. With this privilege seniors learn a skill that will help them in the future. The time put into this occupation is well worth the effort. Much of the money earned goes toward their college education, clothes and social life.

Two compete in county pageant

On September 27, 1980, Lawrence County's Junior Miss Pageant was held at Orr Auditorium, Westminster College. Representatives from various high schools in Lawrence County participated in this event. Nancy Perrone and Mary Kindle represented Lincoln High School in the twenty-first annual pageant. The girls were judged in five areas: judges' interview, scholastic achievement, youth fitness, poise and appearance, and talent. For her talent presentation, Nancy dazzled the audience singing a medley of songs made famous by Melissa Manchester, "Don't Cry Out Loud" and "Touch Me in the Morning." Mary performed a piano solo of Michael Legrand's "Brian's Song" as her talent. Lincoln High School is very proud of both girls.

Girls highlight football season

October 3, 1980, became a damp but memorable night at Helling Stadium. The Homecoming Court rode into the stadium where the speaker introduced them individually. As each girl got out of her car, she and her escort took their places in the stands. The wearing of skirts and jackets begun a few years ago continued this year. The time had finally arrived for the announcement of the 1980-81 Homecoming Queen. The emcee presented Paula Thomas as L.H.S. homecoming queen. As each member of the court congratulated the queen she was presented with a white rose from the queen's bouquet. Homecoming night at Helling Stadium proved to be an enjoyable evening for all.

'81 class shows dignity in work

The Class of '81 started working on the prom a month ahead of time. The sponsors, officers and class cabinet chose the theme "Camelot." The theme carried throughout the Commons Area, Ramp, Library Hall and the Gym. Garnishing the commons area, a gazebo, trees, flowers and fountain, made up the castle garden. The garden then led to the maze entrance. The maze with its intricate weaving, gave off a gloomy effect to all that entered. Onward to the castle! The red carpet of royalty, lay along the castle walls and forest scenes. The music, supplied by Magic Touch added to the lively atmosphere. The S.O.I., once again, held the After-Prom for the students of Lincoln High. Although the faculty and students did not believe they would finish in time, the Class of '81 pulled through again.

Seniors select 1980 Mock Court

On October 3, 1980, Mock Homecoming Queen was chosen. The "gals" were picked by the senior girls a week ahead of time to give them enough time to prepare their outfits. The court consisted of Boom Boom Jeetz escorted by Stu Gutz (Gennaro DiBello and Brian DeLoia), Susie Kakúchkie escorted by Mike Tutturutta (Brian Berendt and Dave Navolio), Esmerelda Von Heikenberg escorted by Heracio Effenhepper (Todd Covert and Chuck Hall), Miss Cleara Sil escorted by Lester Pimplehead (Ron Gatto and Eric Dombeck), Deanna Dirt escorted by Edmund Manasinsky (Dean Novalesi and Dave Churchman), Luella Bellawinsky escorted by Melvin Needemeir (Roger Colao and Randy Pitrelli). And the 1980-81 Mock Homecoming Queen was Susie Kakúchkie escorted by Mike Tutturutta.

What one thing can make a foot
Something very special?
What comes in pairs and wears and wears,
And is quite beneficial?

What one thing expresses your individuality,
Which may be seen from red to green
And gives you personality?

Why, of course, it is the shoe
Which can do all this stuff,
And does much more than walk the floor,
Or hold up folded cuffs

White Nikes are made for those
Of you who always like to run;
While the ankle strap and cleats that top
Are made just for the fun.

And cowboy boots were, of course,
Made to stomp the hay.
But pumps with bows worn with hose
Can brighten up the day.

The moral of this story
Which earns the highest merit,
Without resign the bottom line
"If the shoe should fit then wear it."
— Grace Ferrante

Where would the foot be without the shoe?

Seniors cherish freedom at noon

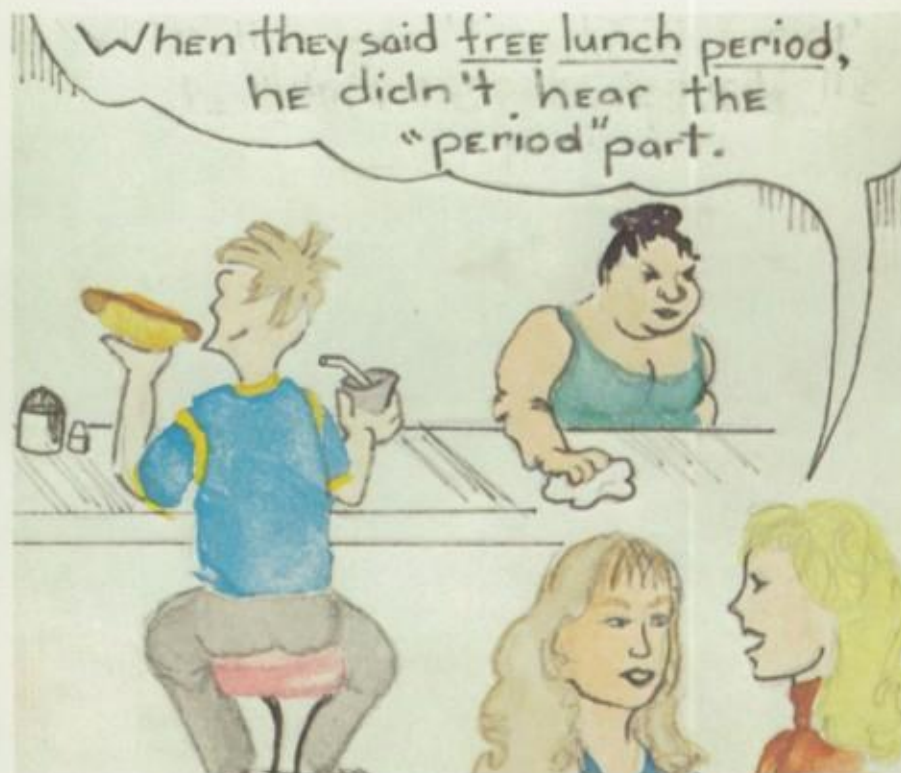

At the beginning of the year the question arose once again "Do seniors have Open Lunch?" The school board then took action and voted. It was passed on a trial basis for six weeks. Some of the conditions set were, that students must be back on time, no food permitted on school property, and proper conduct to be in effect as they would be representing Lincoln High School. The next step was for seniors to persuade their parents to sign for the wanted privilege. From then on it was as easy as walking out the door. Most seniors were seen devouring food from 12:34 to 1:34 at various restaurants such as Sub Palace, Mary's, Easy's, Guilded Cage, Tesone's.

Feelings on the open lunch were expressed by Mr. Magnifico, "It's working out fine for seniors and I think they are getting a lesson in economics by learning to shop where they get the most for their money."

Voting involves school students

Lincoln High School's Mock Election was held on October 30, 1980. Students had an opportunity to vote for state and local representatives as well as the president of the U.S. The Enrichment Program scheduled an assembly which gave the students a chance to "meet the candidates. Attending the assembly, candidates such as Ralph Pratt and Dan Vogler were both running for representative in the General Assembly. Congressmen Eugene V. Atkinson and Robert Morris also were on hand to give their viewpoints and their political beliefs. Jeff Houk and Susan Potter, student co-chairmen of the election, set up polls where students could vote. According to Lincoln polls, Jimmy Carter was elected for a second term differing from the national landslide of Ronald Reagan.

A forever love
Built by caring
Takes you and me,
A whole lot of sharing.

Someone to tell
Your deepest dreams
That travel
Through our heads
Like mountain streams.

Together for each other
Through the ups and downs
We'll hold on
To one another

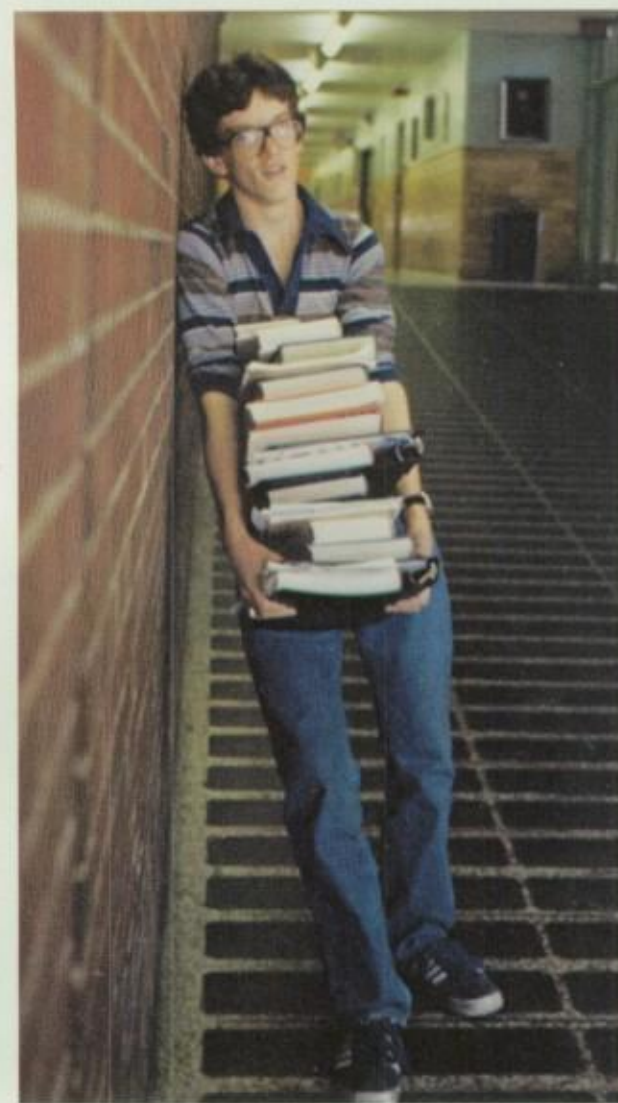

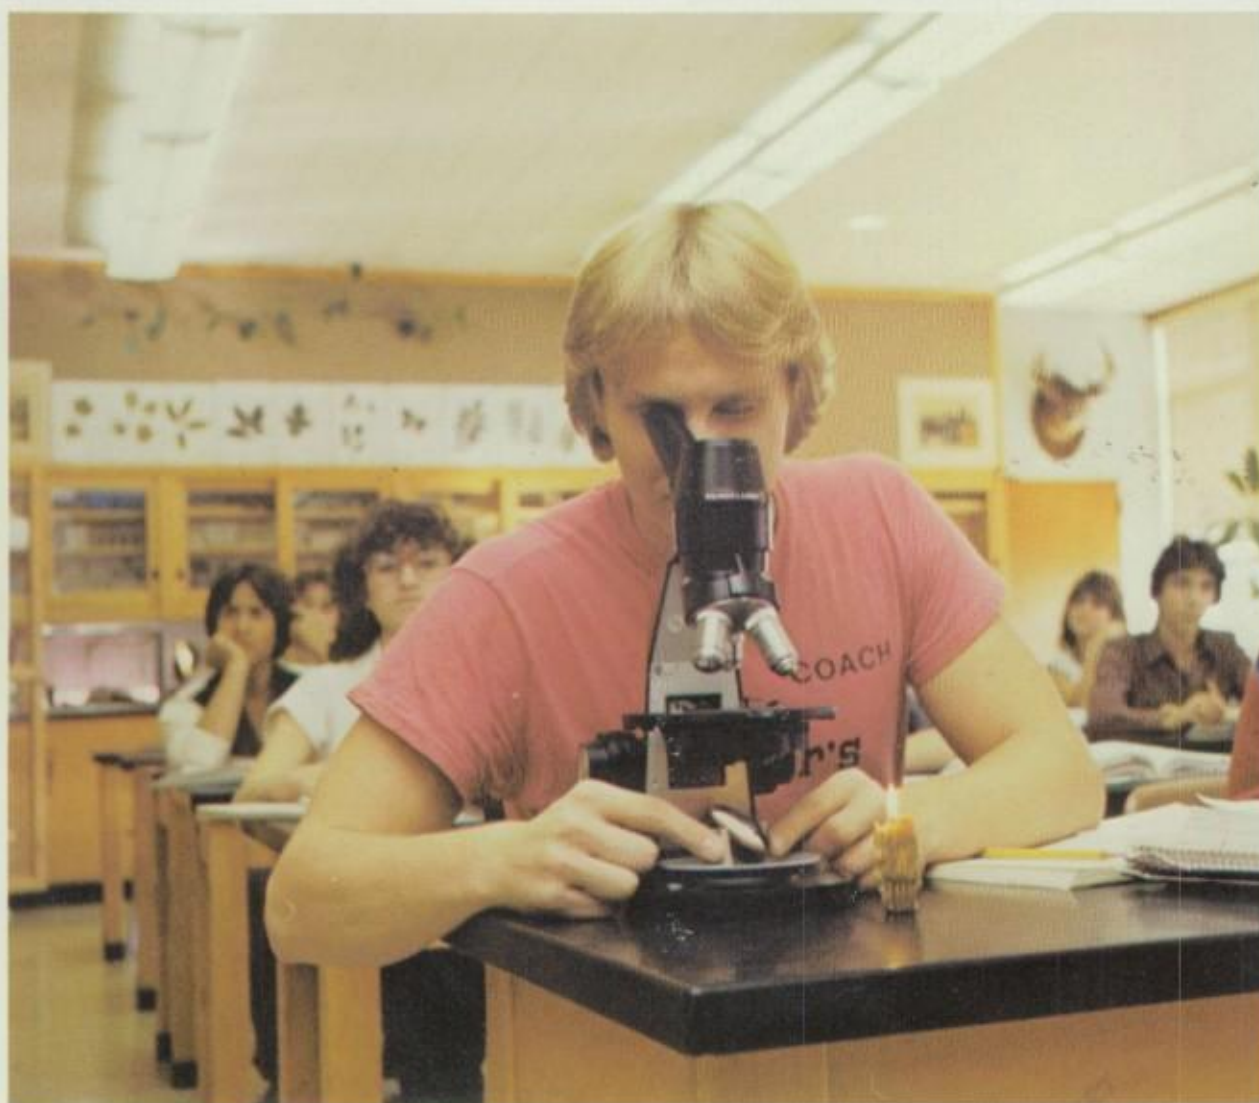

I'll follow you
You'll follow me
That's how
Our relationship
Will always be.

Scholastic time shows results

Lincoln offers a wide variety of courses for its students. Among these are the basic academics: English, mathematics, social studies, science and fine arts. When students enter twelfth grade, their social studies class turns into American Government. Here students learn more about our government — local, state and national. If students want to continue their education, they enter C. P. English. This prepares high school students for college English. Lincoln's science department is divided into biology, physics, and chemistry. Participants in these classes experiment and delve into scientific endeavors. And our students who have creative ideas and hands have a broad opportunity to challenge themselves at ceramics, jewelry, and enamel crafts in our fine arts department.

Students share remembered year

Laura Piirto, Lincoln High School's foreign exchange student came to us through the worldwide organization, A.F.S. During her year here she stayed with the Layne Thiele family. Laura participated in many activities to fill her year, such as Girl's Basketball, Powder Puff, and the Tennis Team plus she was an honorary member of Homecoming Court. Her host family consists of Mr. and Mrs. Thiele, Deidre, and twin brothers Layne and Jeff.

To travel to far away places is an experience everyone wishes for. Evelyn Houk achieved this wish through A.F.S. exchange. She journeyed to Sweden where she stayed with her host family and got to travel to all parts of Sweden.

Teolis elected governor of state

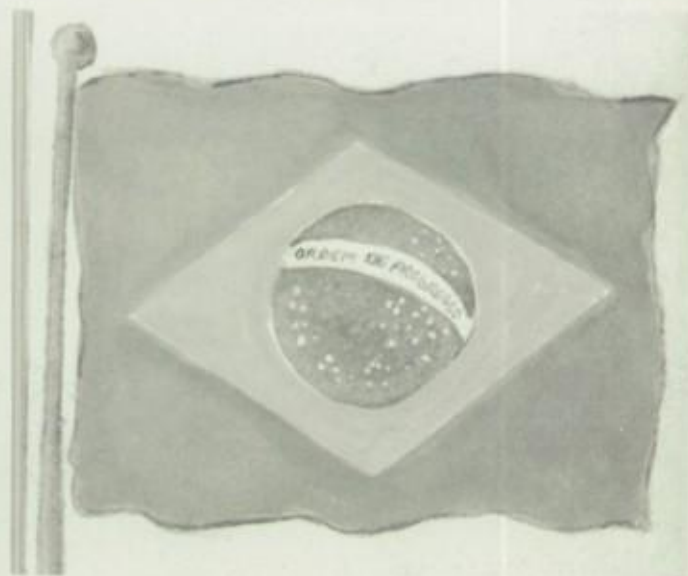

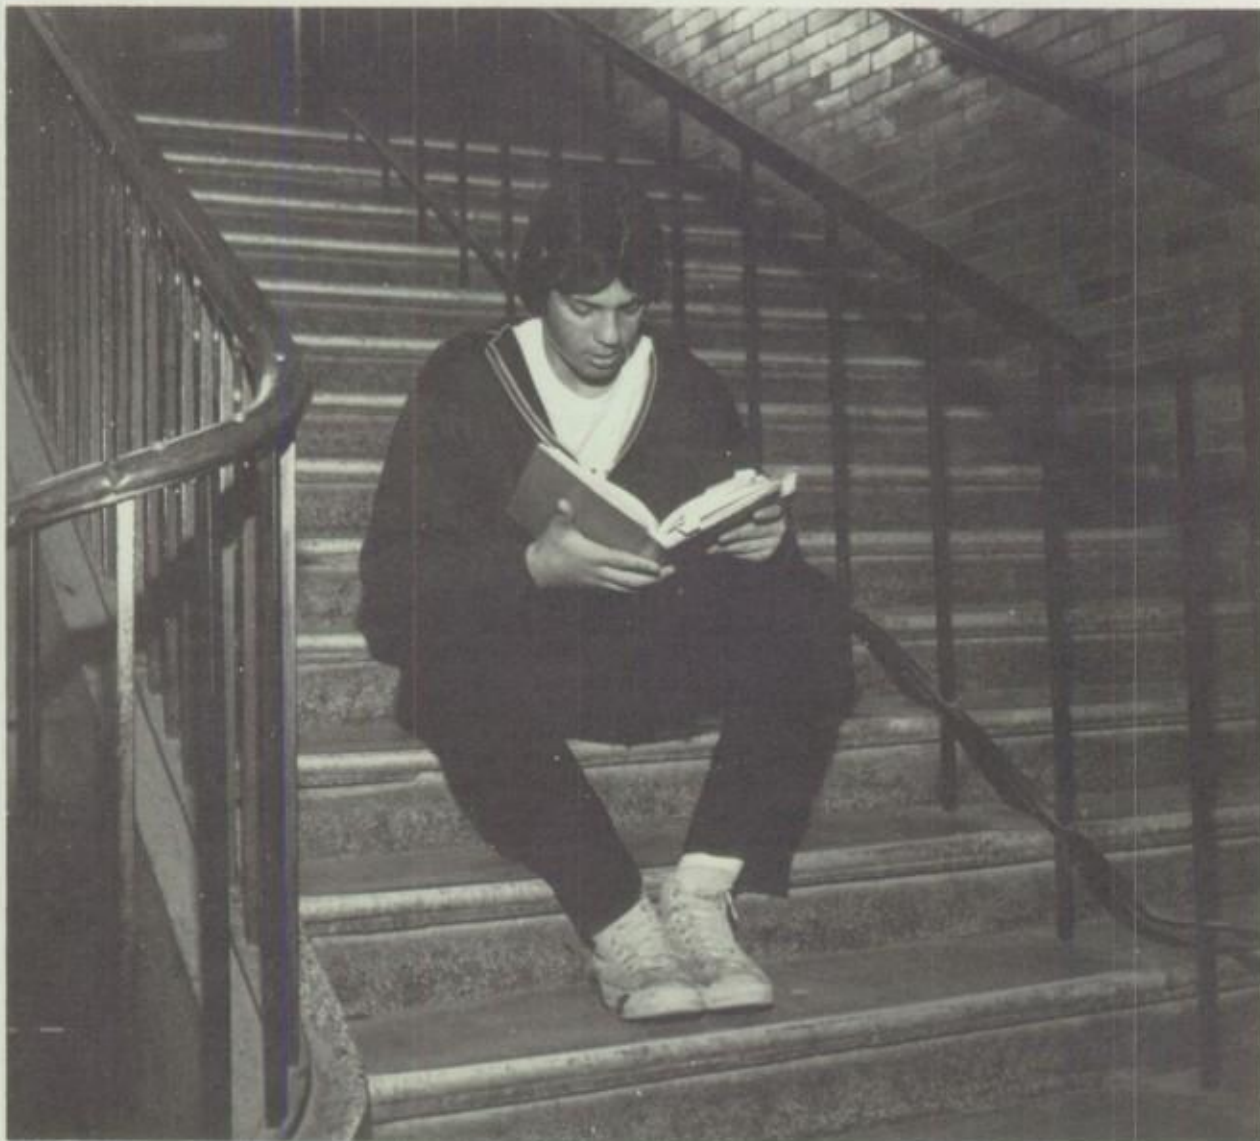

Joyce Teolis and Anne Rocco traveled to Shippensburg College in Shippensburg, Pennsylvania, to become citizens of the Keystone Girl's State. This project, sponsored by The American Legion Auxiliary gave them a training program in citizenship. Its purpose was to give them an understanding of the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities of American citizenship. Keystone State is an imaginary fifty-first state in which all citizens have the right to vote and hold an office. Joyce gave speeches and campaigned for governor and was elected as the 1980 Keystone State Governor out of 300 girls. At the inauguration ceremony, Joyce was sworn into office, given the Bible on which she took her oath, and was guest of honor at an inaugural banquet and ball afterwards. The newly-elected Governor, then delivered a speech to the girls of Keystone State.

Students welcome Brazilian guest

Lincoln High School students and faculty, I introduce to you, Leonardo Specterow, our foreign exchange student from Brazil. He came to us through the organization P.E.A.C.E. While going to school here, Leonardo will be residing with the Feldman Family which consists of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Feldman and his host brother Ralph. During his stay here, Leonardo had the chance to travel to Niagara Falls, Canada, and Washington, D.C. with his host family. While in Washington, Leonardo visited with friends of his family. After being away from home for two months, he got a chance to see a familiar face and converse in his native language. He also was served "fe igoada," the native dish of Brazil, which consists of black beans, rice, sausage, corn and beef. His year at Lincoln has been a memorable learning experience for Leonardo.

Hello, Hello?
Is anybody home?
We all got in this booth
Just to use the phone.
She looked up the number;
She put in the dime,
And then I dialed
To get you on this line.
We're all here to tell ya
Somethun' hard to deny
About the Senior class of good ole Lincoln High.
Have you ever heard
of birds of a feather?
Well, the Class of '81
Does everything together!

— Graci Ferrante

Have you ever had the craving to munch out on something fattening or not good for you just for the sake of eating? (But, of course, knowing you'll regret it later.) Then join the nationwide group called, "The Junk Food Junkies." A "Junkie's" delight is to binge on a Banana Split. Also, to sit in front of the TV with a bag of chips and a BIG tub of onion dip is pure heaven for those who indulge. A carton of HoHo's are eaten bit by bit by HoHo lovers. As described to us by a "Junkie," "I slowly unwrap the foil and peer inside and to my delight, there lies a HoHo. I slowly but surely nibble off the chocolate. Then, as the HoHo unrolls to reveal its creamy white middle, I bit into it savoring every bite."

With the beginning of the still of life and the dead of fall
The winter's air breathes a silent serenity to all.

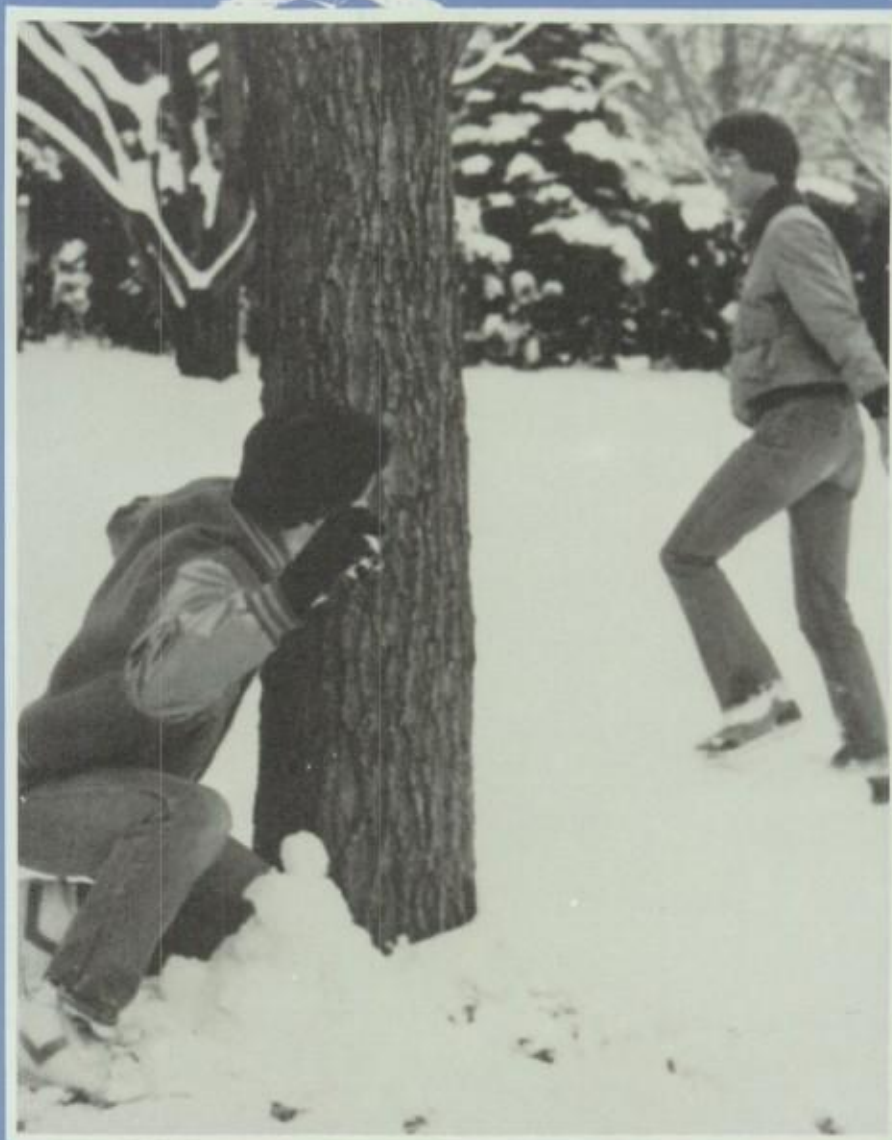

But with this too, it speaks of laughter and of sounds of joy
Of the fun and happiness of every girl and boy.

Of snowball fights and sleigh delights
Of reddened cheeks and mountain peaks

Of frozen toes with reddened nose
Of shiny skates and frozen lakes.

But most of all it utters peace to each and every man
And gives us new found hope in this winter wonderland.

Festival renews past traditions

The Boar's Head Festival and Yule Log Ceremony is probably the oldest continuing festival of the Christmas season. It was presented at least as early as 1340, at Queen's College, Oxford. This celebration was then brought to America and presented in colonial homes. A highly refined version of this ancient ceremony has been a tradition throughout the country as well as a new tradition for Christ Church U.P. in Ellwood City. The church, with help from the high school and community, brought together the 160 members of the cast, including orchestra and chorus. The pageant begins with the decorating of the King's Chapel for the great feast to be held that day. Then, the Boar's Head procession begins. The King's Herald tells the story of the Christ Child and his humble beginnings. The people of the community experience a memorable celebration of the true meaning of Christmas.

Reminisce through the age of time,
While fresh memories drift through your mind.

Cherish that memory that lingers in your heart;
Keep the fire glowing, keep it warm when we're apart.

The triumphs, the failures, the times we've shared,
We've been there for each other, we've always cared.

Cherish those memories as we grow forever old;
Those treasured memories as true as gold.

where do we go from here after the spirit of our senior year?

what lies hidden in our future lives?
only the hopes, dreams, wishes - desires.

may the world welcome you and give you a chance;
it's yours for the taking, it's yours to enhance.

the end of one life, a beginning of another,

ACTIVITIES

Hard work makes our band better

This great year for Senior High Band began at Ewing Park two weeks before school started. Band camp was held to whip the band into shape for the strenuous upcoming year. At the end of the first week of camp the band went to Kennywood Park to march in a parade. After the school year began, the hard-working band held practice every Tuesday and Thursday regardless of rain. The enjoyable year was ended with the annual trip to Cedar Point Amusement Park.

Concert Band, directed by Mr. Egan, was held everyday in the bandroom 6B and seventh period. The musical year was marked by a winter and spring concert. Hoagies and cleaning products were sold for various monetary needs of the band. Recognizing the seniors was the highlight of the spring concert.

Junior marchers seek experience

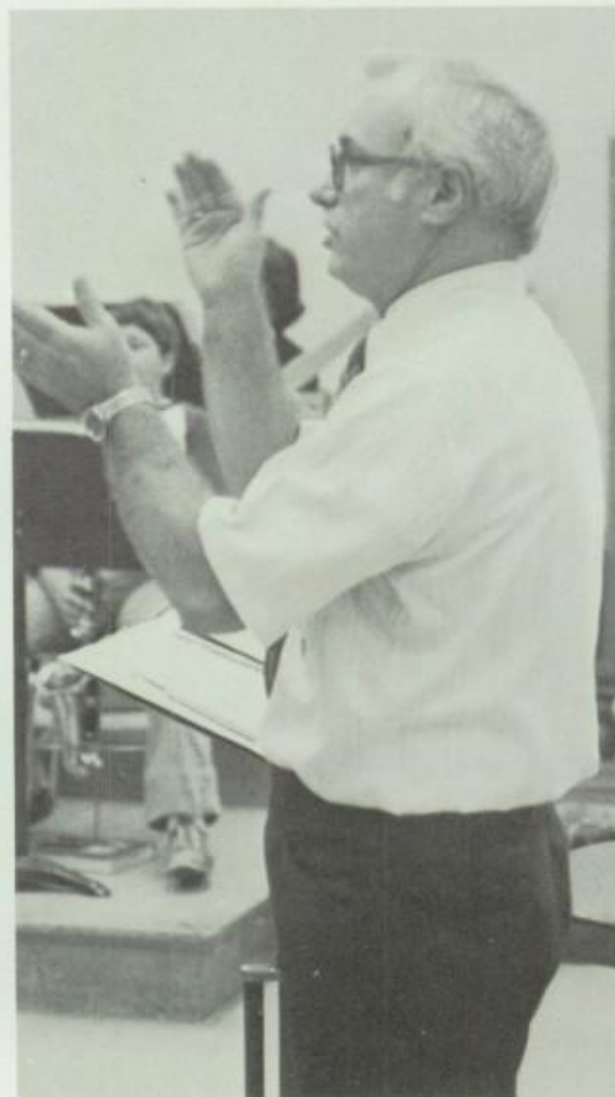

For some of these youngsters, this year was their first try at band. To say the least, it was a successful first try, but it was only reached by continuous hours of hard work and practice. To begin developing their skills, these marchers took part in band camp to prepare them for future school and civic events, not only for this year but for coming years of band. The Junior High bands, first performance, the pie festival was done quite well. Soon they participated in the Veteran's Day program, the Halloween parade and the Christmas parade. They proved to be just as successful in these events. For those who did not participate in marching band, there was also concert band, stage band and pep band. Of the various things they did, they participated in winter and spring concerts and pep rallies.

Vigorous drills top performance

This year Drill Team underwent many changes. For the first time Drill Team was comprised of girls in grades 9 — 12. The co-captains for the 1980 — 81 season were Diana Sicard and Marilyn Curry. The team started practicing for the football season at band camp. The vigorous practicing paid off, for the team displayed good performances at their games and parades. During band camp, the band went to Kennywood, where they performed and spent the rest of the day. This year the girls had a sponsor, Miss Gumpf, to make up and teach the routines. The co-captains also helped with this. The girls practiced every Tuesday and Thursday with the band, and many times on their own. A major change this year was the girls' new uniforms. The season ended with a band banquet where awards were given.

Twirlers at L.H.S. perform for all

The Lincoln High majorettes twirled their best to the beat of the Marching Blue Band. Seven majorettes made their performance of hypnotic twirling at local events such as football games, parades and pep rallies. Under the training of Miss Gumpf, the girls learned posie and developed a style all their own. Smiling during performances became easier for the girls as the season came to an end. These girls and Miss Gumpf could occasionally be found practicing after school in the Commons Area. They also practiced with the band every Tuesday and Thursday night at Helling Stadium. Head Majorette Luann Angelucci led the twirlers through the year. The girls also went to Cedar Point with the Blue Band to perform. Overall, the girls had a very enjoyable and successful season.

Concerts unite singing talents

Under the direction of Miss Pertile, the Senior High Choir practiced for many long hours to get the right sound. Their countless practices paid off when they showed their abilities to the audiences at the Christmas and Springtime Concerts. The two busiest choirs throughout the year were Concert Choir and Choral Capers. The members of these groups were chosen by auditions. Concert Choir members then decided to visit New York City on their annual trip. They raised money for their trip by selling M & M's and submarine sandwiches. Besides planning for the journey, they also gave concerts to churches and other civic-related functions.

Promising youth discover talent

Promising new talent was seen in this year's Junior High Choir. For some of these young students, it was a first at singing in a choir but despite the lack of experience the results were delightful. Under the supervision of Miss Pertile, these young singers worked hard before participating in their first presentation for Lincoln High at the annual Junior-Senior High Christmas Choral Concert. After much more hard work and practice, the Junior High Choir then took part in the Spring Choral Concert showing their Senior High counterparts that they are becoming contenders for future choirs. They performed well and Lincoln High School was proud to present these friendly new faces as part of its choir activities.

Camp starts off cheering season

J.V. and Varsity Cheerleaders traveled to Indiana to start off their year with a four-day camp. This camp included about 20 other schools which competed in several different areas of cheering. After hard workouts and vigorous training, this varsity squad was awarded for the first time with a plaque in competition. They also received a blue ribbon, the highest honor, in evaluation, winning two blue ribbons and an outstanding award for their performances. As the school year progressed both J.V.'s and Varsity combined efforts to do many errands such as passing out mums for the Homecoming and roses for the last football game. However, their most important task was adding spirit to Lincoln by creating and performing their cheers so well.

Junior cheerers add pep to team

The Jr. High Cheerleaders spent their summer mornings practicing for the pie festival in which they participated with J.V. and Varsity Cheerleaders for the first cheer of the season. They passed many afternoons washing windows which supplied them with the money for new pom-poms.

When the school year started, they practiced everyday after school. Although Jr. High football team went 1-5, defeating only Riverside, the cheerleaders put all their efforts in until the end. They had two pep-rallies where everyone participated whole-heartedly.

Ellwood bursting with art talent

Once again, Art Club had a very productive year in which they performed many civic activities. The year began with tryouts and the initiation of new members. Twelve members were welcomed to the club. Once the Halloween season began, the club was out painting store windows in what became a cold and windy Friday. The members accomplished their goals and the public enjoyed their contribution to the festivities. As soon as the holiday was over, the new members practiced their cleaning skills and scrubbed every one of the painted windows. For the past three years, the window washing has been a part of the initiation of club members. Upon returning from Christmas vacation, Miss Miskolcze, the club sponsor, started the club painting a large Wolverine sign in the boys' gymnasium, a constant reminder of Art Club's many contributions.

Acting adds the spices to drama

Acting abilities for the year were put to good use. Under the direction of Mrs. Wetmur, her classes performed two plays for grade school children. Towards the beginning of the year "The Lion, Witch, and The Wardrobe" was put into production. After it was done, practice for "The Wizard of Oz" was started. Both plays were considered a success. Before Christmas vacation, a special show was made. It included a professional clown, elves and Santa Claus. Treats were handed out by members who were dressed as elves. Members participated either in making or acting out the skits and by handing out treats. Theatre Arts added their help by doing the make-up.

Talented actors show their best

The Senior High Dramatics Club members performed at their very best when they presented their annual play, "The Night is My Enemy." The play was a "who done it" type of murder mystery. Robert Galvin was sponsor of the talented bunch of actors and actresses. The performers held a well-deserved cast party after the play. This year's officers were: Lon Santis, President; Anne Rocco, Vice President; Joyce Teolis, Secretary; and Brian Cox, Treasurer.

The Junior High Dramatics Club once again brought to us some young talent to the stage. This year the club presented "Our Miss Brooks." Chris Costa who portrayed a teacher bored with her life, fell in love with Marty Huck, the athletic coach. Sponsoring the young actors were Reed Brown and Don Hollerman. A cast party was thrown after the play.

Students embark on school ideas

Senior High Student Council, under the supervision of James Irwin, had a hardworking council as in previous years. One of the yearly projects was the gathering of apples in September for the making of apple cider. This turned out to be a very successful project. One of the many new attractions was the suggestion box which was located in the school's library. The group also sponsored the Homecoming dance and purchased charms for the girls who served on court.

Exciting and fulfilling, this year was made into the most it could by the Junior High Student Council. Supervised by their sponsors, Miss Kosanovich and Mr. Badger, a ski trip to Seven Springs was taken on January 24. They brought excitement and joy into a lot of children's hearts at Christmas time when they sponsored Toys for Tots.

Foreign affairs come to Ellwood

The main purpose of exchanging students between countries is to expose people to different cultures. This year we had double exposure. Laura Pietro came to us from Finland and Leonardo Spectrow from Brazil. An assembly was held at the beginning of the year so Laura and Leonardo could be introduced to the students and tell them about their homeland and how they compared to Ellwood. Evelyn Houk was also at the assembly to tell about her summer experience in A.F.S. Evelyn visited Sweden for three months. She also traveled to Laura's homeland with her adoptive family for a vacation. Money for Evelyn's trip was raised by used book sales during the 6B period and by sponsoring school dances.

Members meet to improve average

Bowlers met at Park Lanes Bowling Alley at 9:00 to begin their Saturday morning leagues. Members were divided into different teams. Throughout the year, the teams competed against each other for the number one spot. Approximately 100 students belonged to the club. Five to six people comprised each team, with a total of 20 teams. After a few weeks of bowling, their averages were calculated and from the averages, the bowlers were given handicaps. Also, members could bowl in several tournaments held this year. A few were a singles and a doubles tournament, a Low Bowler's Tournament and a Jaycee Tournament. Mr. Eugene Boschini was the sponsor of Bowling Club. The officers were President, John McElwain; Vice President, Roger Colao; Secretary, Terri Patrizio; Treasurer, Beth Yeykal. At the end of the year, the members enjoyed their annual picnic.

Battles rage on the chess board

If you happened to stumble into Room 310 during the lunch period, you were transported into a world where small scale wars prevailed. The battleground was only a chessboard, but the players became real as the students moved them across the board to the unsuspecting King. No blood was shed, only the removal of the many pieces. This may seem too realistic for most people, but the members of Chess Club take considerable time to learn and perfect their complex game. Their sponsor, Mr. Stuart, devoted much of his free time to help members improve their skills. Within the past year, they have added a new addition to the club with the purchase of an electronic chess game. Now the students could match their skills against those of a master mind. Thus, the battles continued to rage within the confines of their small boards.

Members compute their knowledge

Under the supervision of Mr. Reed Brown, Computer Club, learned different things from brain teasing, mind boggling computers. During meetings of Computer Club, members listened to different guest speakers talk about numerous types of computers. Mr. Brown tried to make the students use their minds, as he set up various types of "games of the week" they could play or they could enjoy writing their own programs. At the end of the year they went on a field trip to a college where they checked out its computer system. Members could use the computers any-time during their study hall periods so they could broaden their knowledge. Overall, these students became well aware of the important role that computers will play in our future.

Writers produce a quality paper

Under the supervision of Mrs. Lori Sutton, the ECHO Staff advisor, the school newspaper was published every month for student's enjoyment. The staff consists of 12 hard-working members. Facing the impossible work was made possible with cooperation from all on the staff. Traveling to Point Park College was made possible for the staff so that they could hear speeches given by experienced journalists. The money for the Christmas edition of the ECHO was donated to Children's Hospital. A banquet was held at the end of the year where the staff enjoyed good food and entertainment. The ECHO is a self-supportive paper. Money that is made selling the paper is used to buy supplies to keep the paper going.

Future business goals respected

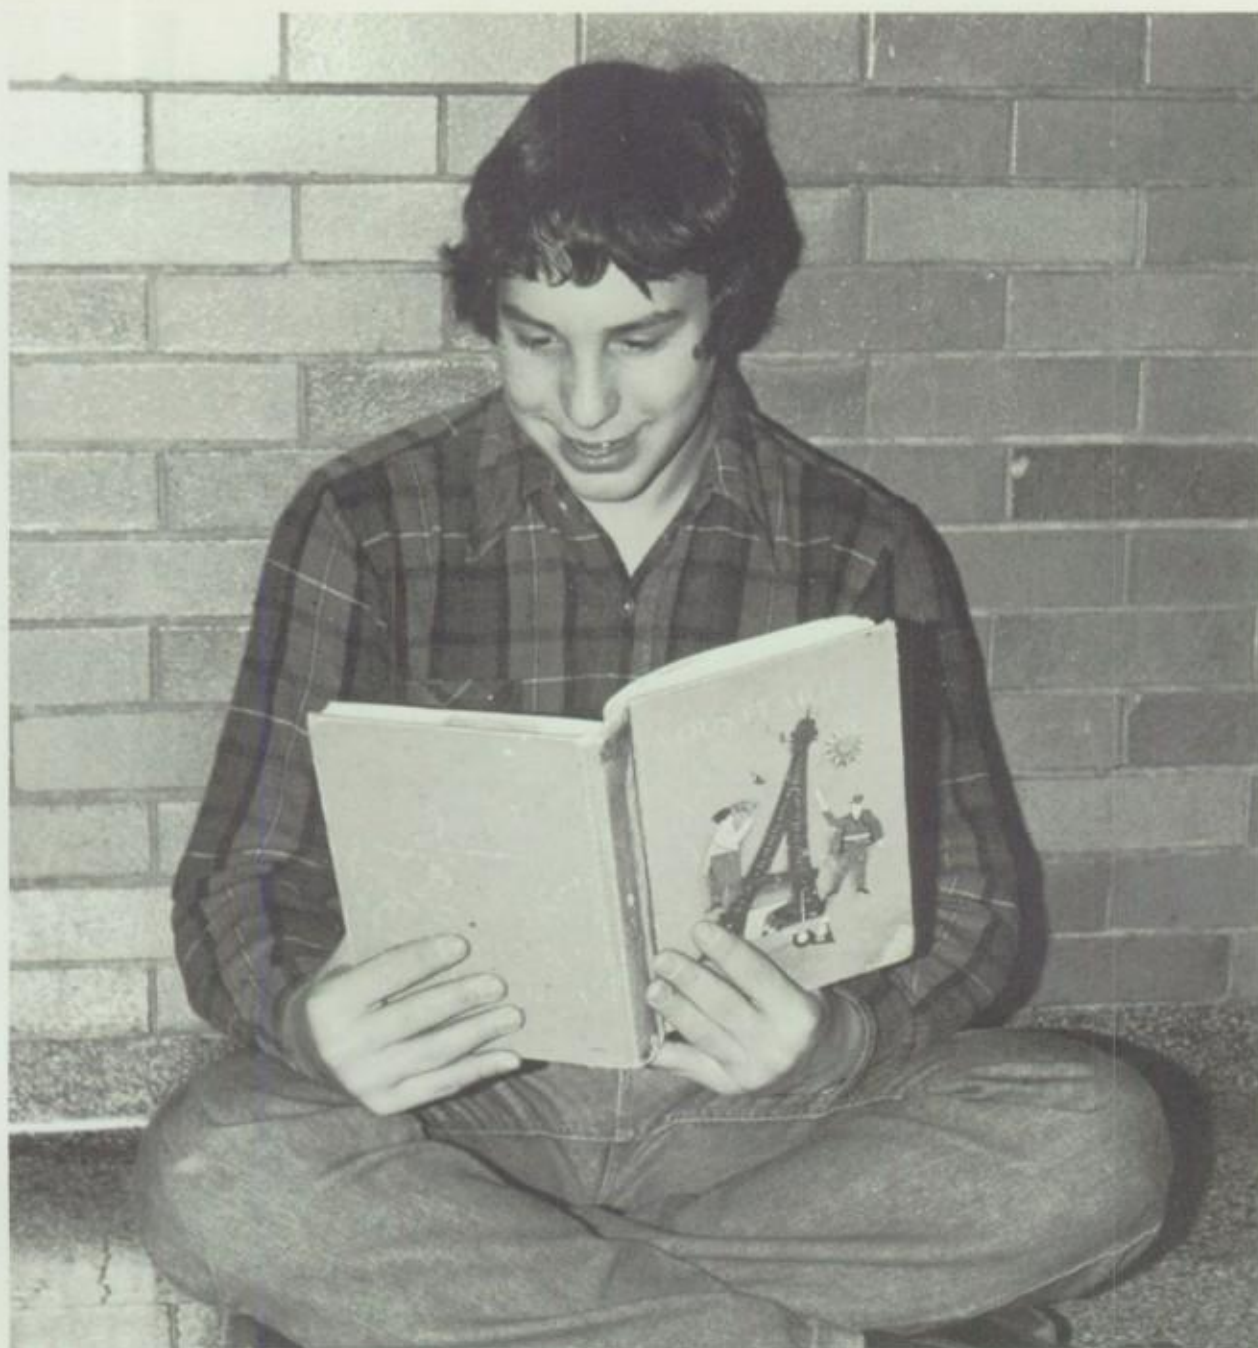

Mrs. Virginia Ottaviani, the Business Club sponsor, devoted much of her time and skills in guiding the members of Business Club. The members planned to use their skills as secretaries and accountants to contribute to the lifestyles of all. The girls learned many valuable traits to prepare themselves for their future careers. National Secretaries' Week was observed by the girls. One of the events was holding a tea in the high school library for club members and clerical staff personnel of the school. The girls observed and participated in as many business-related events. Through the year the girls tried to become familiar with all business fields. Learning about all of the various departments in business, the girls developed a high degree of respect for them all and this will continue to grow as they choose their goals.

French speaking students unite

Bonjour and welcome to the world de Francais. Where is the Eiffel Tower? What do the French eat? If someone you knew was interested in learning the answers to these questions and others they probably would have been in French Club. Monsieur Galvin, the club's sponsor, taught the students to speak in a foreign language and also helped them to find out how the French celebrated Mardi Gras. The special event of the year was a Christmas party that was celebrated with the Spanish and German Clubs. During the meetings, the members could be found wandering all over the school looking for secret treasures or scavenging around looking for treats to eat. The French Club was truly a learning experience filled with excitement.

Culture gathers new experiences

Under the talented leadership of Miss Beth Schuller, this year's German Club started off a splendid year by electing new officers: Sean Spielvogel, President; Todd Main, Vice President; Julie Abraham, Secretary; Darren Hickey, Treasurer. These dominant leaders and other dedicated members worked throughout the year to increase their knowledge of the German language and to become acquainted with German cultures and customs. The club shared their knowledge and customs with the French Club and Spanish Club at a Christmas party. Music and dance were part of the entertainment. A bake sale was part of their money-making projects. A dinner with all German food was enjoyed by club members at the end of the year.

Library workers provide answers

An enjoyable place to spend some free time is the Lincoln I.M.C. Students can go there and discover new worlds, seek out their dreams or simply find new insights to old ideas. Imaginations run wild to explore vast horizons of knowledge.

Numerous reference books and magazines are on hand to aid students. These must be kept in order and the I.M.C. workers also spend much time filing cards, checking out books, running errands and anything else that may come about. With what little free time the workers have they have the opportunity to explore the vast walls of books. Under the direction of Mr. Nick Panico, the I.M.C. has something for everyone.

Members are the keys to success

Key Club, which encourages both girls and boys to join, partakes in numerous activities. The most anticipated event for all Lincoln High students was the annual bonfire, which took place before the last football game. Members took time to assemble all available wood to build the fire. Despite the chilling temperature, all participants had a good time. During the basketball season, this club was busy running the concession stand selling refreshments. An all-year duty for the members was a weekly meeting at the Kiwanis Club to up-date the club's activities. A trip to Pittsburgh highlighted this year's experiences for the members. Our Key Club along with the other clubs all over Western Pennsylvania met together for their annual convention to choose the most active of them. Clubs were compared and the winners were then awarded banners to show their superiority.

Club ushers way for new jackets

Most people think that the main purpose of the Ushers Club is to usher — Right? Wrong! They do usher but they also participate in many other services and money-making projects. Throughout the year, the club ushered at many events both school-related and civic. They handed out programs, collected tickets and passed out name tags for such school activities as Choral Concert, the Senior Class Musical and also N.H.S. induction. Their money-making projects included running the concession stands, selling coke, and selling programs at the home football game. Their service projects were setting up and tearing down the A.F.S. Hobby Show and also selling tickets for Ellwood City U.S.A. The members, who ushered and worked at the concession stands, earned credit toward their jackets which they received at the end of the year.

Scholastic work brings in honor

Under the direction of Miss Karen Marino, the National Honor Society enjoyed an active year. The students went to great lengths to keep up the high standards of the club. To keep the club active in school affairs, the club held monthly meetings. At the annual Parents' Night, the members of National Honor Society served to welcome the parents. To aid the parents even more, members of the club were stationed throughout the halls. Initiation was held the same as previous years. The students were selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character and service. Only those students whom the faculty committee felt displayed these characteristics to the fullest were chosen to be members. After the initiation ceremonies the parents and students were invited to attend a tea which the old members arranged. Miss Marino, with the voice of the members, decided that this year they would be a more honorary club than they had in previous years.

Club gives life to Lincoln High

The Pep Club was created to increase the spirit at all athletic events in Lincoln High School. Club members showed their support at all school sport events by making tags for people to wear the day of the game. Banners showing spirit were also made and hung up in the school. The club often sat as a group and cheered on the athletes at such sports as football, basketball, gymnastics, baseball, and wrestling. One of their ideas to increase school spirit was to open a shop that sold pro-Wolverine t-shirts, megaphones, hats and shorts. The club hoped to be a continuing success under the sponsorship of Mrs. Sutton.

Throughout the year, Photo Club members were at many of the school activities with their ever-present cameras poised to get the perfect shot. Their efforts were a constant reminder of their striving for perfection. The club sponsor, Mr. Geniviva willingly gave the students guidance and information on all aspects of photography. Their ultimate test came with the entering of the annual photo contests. They participated in two major contests in the area. The first one was the Jennings Nature Reserve Photo Contest. This competition was centered on nature photography and many of the students returned with awards for their endeavors. A greater expression of personal interpretation was achieved in the Hoyt Photo Contest because the categories were not limited. Once again, the Lincoln High Photo Club proved to be a winner.

P.Y.E.A. members have busy year

The Pennsylvania Youth Education Association under the leadership of Mrs. Franus led a busy and fun-filled year. They started the year by selling foods such as pizza, pop, candy, and gum at the football stands during the home games. With the money they earned, they hosted a rollerskating party at Homewood for last year's seniors. They also donated part of their profits to the annual drive for Children's Hospital. They also planned to give a play to the little children at the elementary schools. They finished the eventful year by spending a week-end at Greentree Marriot.

Members of club promote running

Among one of the newest clubs at Lincoln is the Runner's Club. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Galvin and Mr. Manzo, this club had many fun-filled events that centered mostly on one thing; running. They had many regular evening meetings that had various interesting speakers and movies pertaining to running and training. They ran periodically, two to three times a week, through the surrounding parks. Even the sponsors got into the act by running along with the members. After a few money-making projects, the club purchased t-shirts for its members. The group also participated in different road races throughout the area. Good luck to the club next year.

Crew brings the upcoming events

Every morning and afternoon, the student body at L.H.S. are brought the announcements of upcoming events and meetings by the members of Sound Crew. These members are cheerful and pleasant. Besides making the announcements, they also learned how to operate the electronic devices in the sound room. The members were chosen at the beginning of the year by tryouts. The new members chosen were: Marty Huck, April McKim, and Darla Redmond. The returning members were Ron Venezie, Judy Dolter and Wayne Huck. They were under Mr. Brown's supervision.

No Siesta for a very busy club

Spanish Club members accomplished learning Spanish customs and traditions this year. The first thing done was the election of new officers at a Halloween party with Spanish music and a Pinata. In November, they had a bake sale to help pay for parties planned later in the year. They had their annual Tureen Dinner where club members tried many types of Mexican food. A Christmas party uniting all three language clubs was planned to learn customs, traditions, music and foods from all three countries. A Spanish speaker from Duquesne University came to talk with Spanish Club members at the end of the year. All together, the Spanish Club experienced a very exciting year.

Backstage trade runs smoothly

All of the stage productions in the auditorium are run by the Stage Crew. The members take care of light, sound, the setups, curtains and sometimes scenery. The members were elected into the club by past members. This year, four new "gerbils" were added to the roster by the club. People in the club were elected in tenth grade and hopefully stayed in the club until twelfth grade. The seniors this year will be replaced next year. Mr. Brown and his crew went to the Cheap Trick Concert in Pittsburgh for their yearly field trip.

Club info stops smoking habits

The aim of Y.A.C. was to forewarn people on the hazards of cigarette smoking. The officers made four trips to the New Castle office to discuss the future plans and activities of the club. Open House at the beginning of the year was attended by members who passed out pamphlets and sold "No Smoking" buttons. There was also a sign for smokers to quit smoking for one day. In the spring, daffodils were sold and the money was given to the Cancer Society. Colored carnations were also sold for Valentine's Day as in previous years. A musical skit was put on for grade school kids to educate them on the disadvantages of smoking. The members also participated in the Bridal Show in New Castle on February 8 by selling stuffed animals. The club participated in the Nurse of Hope program. The year's activities have been a benefit to the community and best wishes are sent to the club.

Big dance ends club activities

Besides planning for the annual semi-formal dance, the Y-Teens had a busy and fun-filled year with many different programs. On September 17, the group had initiation for new members. These new members then embarked on a thoroughly enjoyable year. Among the various programs included speakers on book reviews, a missionary from Africa, a skin care and makeup show. They also saw a one-woman musical of Oklahoma, a variety show, hairstyling show and a disco or jazz exercise program. They sponsored a bake sale and had a roller-skating party. Besides just having fun, the group performed many service projects for the benefit of the community. Among one of the many services they performed was sponsoring a Long-Term Care Party. They ended this eventful year with the dance which was held on April 25.

Staff produces a memory book

This year's ELLWOODIAN Staff worked together to produce a year-book filled with many memories. The first step taken to produce the year-book was to choose a theme. To find the star within yourself before reaching beyond to find other stars was this year's theme. After choosing a theme, the staff with the guidance of their co-advisor Miss Dorothy Wimer, began to plan layouts for the book. The staff members planned pictures for their specific sections and the photographers took the pictures. After writing the copy, it was sent to the ELLWOODIAN typists, who were under the direction of co-advisor, Mrs. Virginia Ottaviani. Also, Mr. Timothy Stuart was the business sponsor and he helped the Senior Class Magazine Sale and ELLWOODIAN Staff. Guiding the staff as Co-Editors were Aileen Champion and Chris Wolfe.

Wolverines have arduous season

The Jr. High Football team ended their season with a 1 — 5 record. Bruce Davidson was head coach for the 1980 season. He was assisted by Paul Long. The little Wolverines closed their season on a positive note. With a score of 7 — 0, they shut out Riverside. Ellwood City's only score occurred in the middle of the first quarter. After a bad snap, Lincoln's Bob Minto recovered the fumble in the endzone for the only touchdown of the game. Minto also successfully kicked the extra point. The tough Wolverine defense held Riverside scoreless throughout the game. Intercepting two passes, Scott Hazen stopped crucial drives by Riverside. Next year, the team is looking forward to much improvement.

Wolverines show their abilities

Jim Rankin returned as head coach for the 1980 football season. Leading the team as captains were Bill Ruhe, Scott Paglia, and John Steilner. Ending the season with a 1-8-1 record, their only victory was against Montour with a score of 16-7. Mike Hufnagel ran in for the first touchdown and caught the pass for the two-point conversion. The second touchdown was scored by a pass from Joe Sulia to Joe Maietta. Then, Dave Ioanilli ran in for another two points. The leading rusher for the season was Ioanilli with a total of 957 yards on 173 attempts. Hufnagel ended the season with 234 yards on kick-off returns. Leading in tackling, Jim Zito had a total of 124. According to Coach Rankin, the offense was the highlight of the season and the defense did a good job considering the situations they were put in.

Lady Wolverines improve greatly

The Lady Wolverines had a strong team made up of six returning seniors and other returning lettermen. There was a lot of depth on the bench. According to head coach, Rick Trivilino, the girls' basketball team has improved throughout the season. Although ending with a disappointing 4-17 record, the girls never gave up. Their victories were against Shenango and Riverside. The first win against Shenango ended a long losing streak. The Lady Wolverines won with a score of 52-45. Laura Gibbons led the way with 16 points and Wendy Hoffman had 14 points. Their next victory came when they ripped Riverside with a score of 45-23. Hoffman scored 19 points and Mindy Miller added 12. Once again the Lady Wolverines conquered Shenango. They pounded Shenango 53-46. High scorers for Ellwood were Hoffman with 14 points; Gibbons with 12 points; Gina Wolfe with 11 points; and Miller with 10 points. Ending their season on a positive note, they crushed Riverside 62-22. Hoffman scored 20 points, a team season high, and Wolfe had 18 points. During the second half of the season, the team cut all losing deficits by more than half due to hard work during practices. These results have shown their true character.

The JV team, coached by Linda Maglioca, ended their season with a 9-10 record. Their victories included New Brighton 26-24; Farrell 29-12 and 20-13; Shenango 19-14; Union 26-4 and 23-18; Riverside 33-30 and 28-9. The team faced many close scoring games. During double overtime, Slippery Rock slid past Ellwood by a score of 23-21. Coach Trivilino has high hopes for next year with 11 girls returning.

Varsity team shows enthusiasm during the season

The Ellwood City Wolverines ended their season with a 10-14 record, including 5-11 in section play. Returning as Head Coach was Joe Acotto. He was assisted by Jeff Meehan. Starting off the year, the Wolverines beat Sharpville, Rochester, and Sacred Heart during their pre-season games. Rich Courson opened the season scoring 29 points to lead his team past Sharpville 55-53. Ellwood City went on to prove victorious over Rochester 57-55 and Sacred Heart 59-54.

Their section victories were over Neshannock, Union, and Laurel. The Wolverines topped Neshannock with a score of 57-53. Leading the team to its victory was Dege DiBello with 20 points and Courson with 18 points. Their next win was at Union 52-46. Courson led the way with 19 points followed by DiBello with 18 points. Traveling to Neshannock, the Wolverines once again proved themselves with a score of 76-67. Courson shot 12 field goals and 7 foul shots for a total of 31 points. Also contributing for Ellwood were DiBello and Bob Gibbons with 14 points each. The Wolverines defeated Union by a score of 44-38. Ellwood City continued on its 3-game winning streak by defeating first place Laurel 58-56. Courson and DiBello played the way with 19 points each.

The Wolverines played many tough games which resulted in disappointing final scores. One of their losses was against Riverside 52-42. Courson led Ellwood's scoring with 15 points. Tony Carusone contributed 14 points. When the Wolverines hosted the Slippery Rock Rockets, they lost with an upsetting score of 66-61. They ended their season with a hard loss against their high school rival, Riverside, by a score of 47-38. DiBello and Courson proved to be the high scorers for the night with 11 points each.

Rich Courson dominated the Wolverines' statistics for the season. He led in field goals, attempts and percentage, and foul shots and attempts. Courson led the team with most points scored with a total of 452. He had the best average of 18.8 and also the most rebounds with a total of 219 for the year. Tony Carusone led in foul shooting with 70 per cent and personal fouls. Dege DiBello had a total of 292 points this year shooting a 12.2 average. The Wolverines led their opponents in fewer turnovers, 16.0 to 17.1 a game, and more field goals attempted. Ellwood City showed very much pride and kept hustling to the very end. Every minute the Wolverines were on the court, they gave 100 per cent.

Basketball team improves record

Jeff Meehan returned to coach the J.V. team to a winning 11-8 season record. Leading the team were juniors Bob Gibbons with the highest average of 9.8 points a game and the best shooting percentage and Mike Morini with 175 points, the most points scored during the season. Morini also led the team in foul shots. Dave Ioanilli had 174 points and led the team in field goals and rebounds. Leading with the most rebounds per game was sophomore Pat DeCaro. As a team, the Wolverines led their opponents in everything except rebounds and foul shots attempted. The team played aggressively and with much enthusiasm.

Lincoln juniors gain experience

The Ellwood City Junior High Basketball teams each had good seasons. The ninth grade team, coached by Frank Colao, had an overall record of 17-9 including the section playoffs where they were disappointingly defeated. Gaining much experience, the team will be prepared for junior varsity action next year. Coaching the eighth grade team to a 16-2 record was Mike Hervatine. John Wiley led league scoring with a total of 179 points for the year. Steve Battaglia with 115 points and Darren Morrella with 107 points also contributed to the teams' victories. Coach Hervatine was proud of the team and is sure that they will be successful next year. The seventh grade team was coached by Jeff Fotia. They ended the year with a 9-10 record. Jim Kosior led in scoring. Coach Fotia said that they spent the entire year on fundamentals which will pay off in the future.

Team has a tough time living up to expectations

Jeff Meehan assisted by Jeff Fotia coached the team through a tough season. Providing experience were the returning lettermen: Rick Roth, John Maielli, Ray Johns, Bob Timmerman, Ron Russo, Kris Morella, John Perry, Sam Sirimarco, Chuck Damato, Joe Maietta, Rick Raman, Rodney Guy, Dave Ioanilli, Curt Altman, and Mike Hufnagel. The starting pitchers were Ray Johns, John Maielli, and Rick Raman.

The team fought hard to have a winning year. Ending the season with a disappointing 5-7 record, they felt the pressure of living up to previous expectations. Victoriously reigning over Sharon, Blackhawk, New Castle and Riverside, they also had two close games. The first was against Butler with a disappointing final score of 3-4 and the second game against Beaver Falls ending 7-8. According to Coach Meehan, the team is looking forward to a winning season in the 1981 year.

Wolverines show their abilities

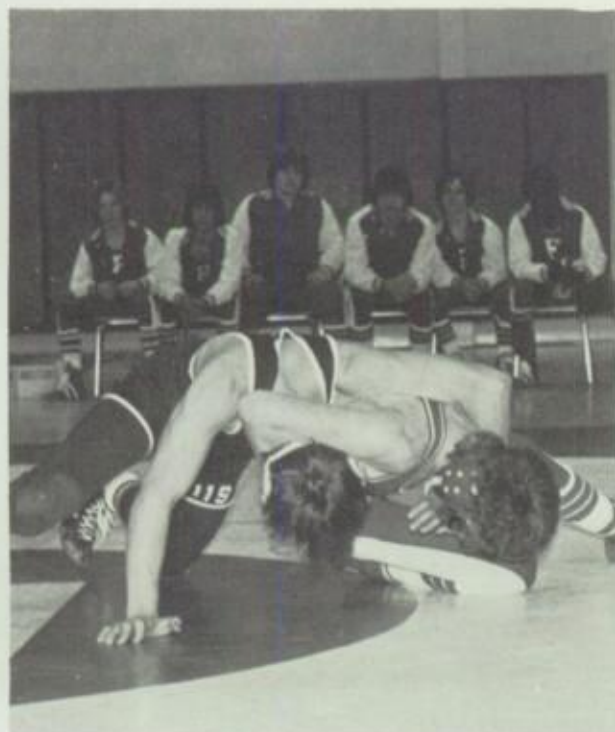

The Lincoln High matmen, coached by Lou Zagorski, ended a very difficult season with a record of 1-12. A big part of this was due to the lack of team members; they had only one wrestler for each weight class. Leading the team as seniors were: John Trevelline, Jeff Koach, Frank Wolfe, and Bill Ruhe. Ellwood opened the season with their only win which was against Sewickley. Wolfe, Trevelline, and Koach each pinned their opponents to help pull a victory with the final score being 50-12. The team had respectable showings in each match considering the section they were in. Jim Sacco, a junior, and Kevin Moser, a sophomore, showed their talent as they were the only scorers for Ellwood in matches against Hopewell and Freedom. Coach Zagorski is looking forward to next year and feels the team will be strong since they will be dropping into another section.

Gymnastics team has good season

Under the direction of Mark Tomei, the Girls' Gymnastics Team ended their season with a 3-9 overall record. The three victories were against Ambridge, Blackhawk, and Wilmington. Stephanie Emig, Patti Marshall, and Tammy Mathas lead the team as returning lettermen. Mathas set three new records: bars, with a score of 7.43; beam, with a score of 7.46; and floor, with a score of 8.06. Emig placed fifth at Invitationals and Mathas went to District's and placed eighth on the beam. The closest meet was against Hickory with a heartbreaking final score of 101.6 to 101.55. Coach Tomei was pleased with this year's record considering there were only 5 team members, and he is looking forward to an excellent season next year along with three returning lettermen.

Boys track team has dismal year

Under the direction of Gene Rogers as head coach and Joe Acotto as assistant, the boys' track team had a disappointing season this year. Although their record was 0-8, a few members had an outstanding year. Joe Sulia led the team with 87 points followed by Tim Kelly with 46 and Mike Perry with 37 points. Sulia was undefeated until the last meet in the 330-yd. intermediate hurdles. Joe went on to the state qualifiers.

The strength of the team lay in their long distance running and field events. The team's best chance for a win came when they hosted Farrell. The meet came down to the triple-jump in which the team could not capture first place. Sulia, Kelly, Perry and 27 others will be returning next Spring, hoping for a better season.

Wolverettes end with 2-6 season

The girls track team put forth much hard work but ended the season with a disappointing 2-6 record. Coaching the team this year were head coach, Sheryl Smith, and assistant coaches, Mary Ann Lewis and Terri Flynn. Michelle Mikosz and Veronica Eady led the team as captains. This year's team was young, made up of mostly freshmen and sophomores, backing the few returning junior and senior lettermen. The only wins for the Ellwood girls were against Hopewell with a score of 90-42, and Sharon 89-41.

The field team displayed a great amount of improvement. Taking second place out of 37 schools in the Relays meet at Neshannock was the javelin team, consisting of Vickie Butler, Joanie Moczan, and Laura Gibbons with a combined throw of 315+ ft. Wendy Hoffman broke her previous high jump record with a jump of 4'10".

Ellwood golfers reign as champs

Coach Mazzant returned to lead his team to the Section 10 title. With the loss of last year's players, they expected to have an average season. However, the team surprised everyone with a 7-1 record. Their only loss was the first match against Riverside. The golfers retaliated and beat Riverside 7½ to 3½ in the section playoffs.

Mike "Screech" Morini led the team with a low average of 43.5 and 14 points. Paul Wercinski was the high point scorer of the year with a total of 16 points. Ron Venezie and Eric Rodgers were also a great asset to the team.

Morini, Venezie, and Wercinski went on to the Tri-County Invitational and placed first. With a low score of 77, Wercinski was the medalist. Morini took fifth place with a sudden death victory.

Ellwood gunners show perfection

The Ellwood City Rifle Team ended their season with a 7-5 record. Dewey Minter coached the team to their second place tie with North Allegheny and Slippery Rock. Seniors Dave Hazen, Joe Rassman, George Schuller, Jeff Houk, and Jonathan Minter led the team. George Schuller was the top scorer with 1192 points for an average of 99.33%. Jonathan Minter and Jeff Davis showed their expertise by each having a 99.17% average. Also supporting the team with 99% averages were Jeff Houk, Dave Hazen, Joe Rassman and Dean Custozzo. The team proved victorious over opponents such as North Allegheny, Butler, Seneca, and Slippery Rock. Losses were against tough teams. However, their defeat over the Ellwood gunners was by a small margin. The team will be a strong one next year with eight returning sophomores.

Lincoln netters set new records

Under the direction of Phil Wimer, the Lincoln tennis team ended a successful season by taking second place in Section II. Contributing to their outstanding year, the netters broke a number of previous records. The team set the best overall record, best sectional record, most wins, most shut-outs, most consecutive victories, and they had the best winning percentage this year. Hard work contributed to their 14-3 overall record. Two of their losses were against the undefeated New Castle, while the third was a close match against Neshanock.

in the air;
Take the time and desire to care.
Set the goals found within your heart;
Through good and bad times, never

And dream about the ones to be.
Don't worry if some seem to fail;
Pick things up and once again set sail.
Life depends upon your every dream,
So reach for them with high esteem.

FACULTY

Administration sets foundation

The concerns of the public as well as the students and faculty are handled by the Ellwood City Area School Board officials. The school board is dedicated to uphold the educational process despite the ever-changing world. The members are also determined to create a curriculum that will improve adult education as well as student education and welfare. The responsibility of superintendent of the Ellwood City Area Schools is in the hands of Dr. John DeCaro.

Principals show understanding

A great responsibility to the entire student body is in the hands of three important and respected men. They are: Dominick Magnifico, principal; and George Reese and William Spellman, assistant principals. Our principals are in charge of school activities. As a team they search for programs to entertain the student body during the assemblies, and they give permission for special events to take place. Most students realize that when they are punished by a principal, it is a deserved punishment. These three men have won friendly attitudes and respect from students and faculty alike.

Secretaries run office smoothly

The secretaries of Lincoln High are a great asset to our school and add a touch of professionalism by always being courteous and helpful with their office skills.

Answering the phone, writing late slips, excuses, and early dismissals are just a few of the small jobs they do everyday. Along with the students' needs, the principals help keep these secretaries busy by giving them various jobs such as filing and typing.

Medical center provides relief

The Lincoln High School medical staff is on duty throughout the school day to deal with health problems as they arise. The nurses deal with student discomforts with patience and efficiency. Whether it is anything as severe as an injury, a simple headache or stomach ache, the nurses are readily equipped to handle it. Eye and hearing tests are also arranged for students during the year. Athletic physicals are given to assure students that they are fit to participate in their sport.

Guidance helps to plan future

Our guidance counselors along with our school psychologist, Alfred Bish, have the enormous task of guiding and directing our students so that they may create a place for themselves in the world around us.

Miss Baringer, Mr. Hairhoger, jr. high counselors aid students by preparing them for the responsibilities they will face in senior high. The senior high counselors, Mr. Jinar and Mr. Santillo, help prepare students for their graduation and help to set up the preliminary steps which will help them to choose a college; also, they are responsible for the various scheduling of tests which students may take.

Mr. Bish, director of pupil personnel services, aids students with the psychological problems facing them in their everyday life at school.

Individualism shines through

The fine arts department of Lincoln High School wishes to give each student a chance to display a hidden talent. Choir, band, and art are the courses which enable a student to perform to his or her potential. The many facets covered by this department guarantee that a student will find something that catches their eye or ear. Be it an abstract painting, a hand-thrown clay pot, the delicate floating sounds of a choir, or the thunderous reverberations of a high school band, it is sure to stir some feeling in the stillest soul.

Accomplishments through business

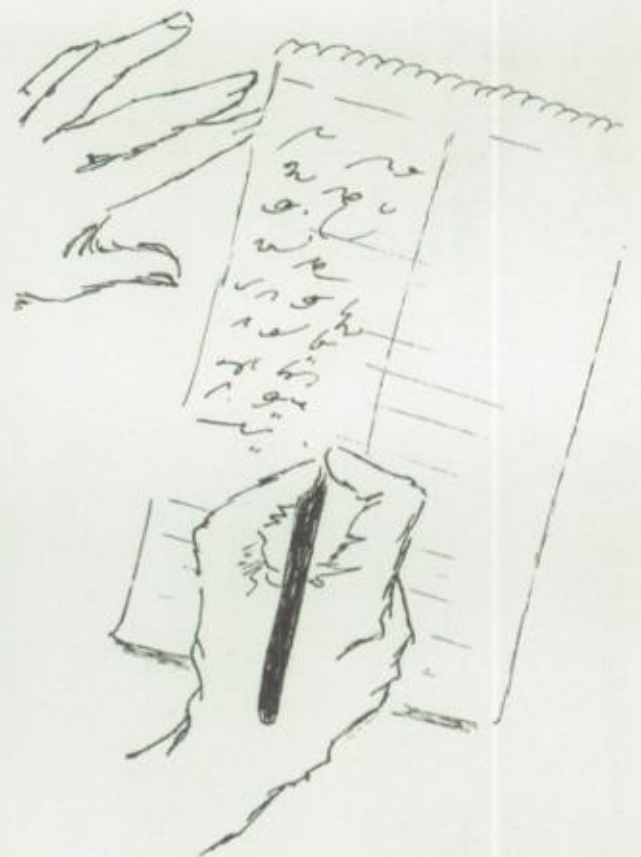

The business department received a new transcribing machine which gives information to the typist through sound. Other additions include several adding machines. The business department likes to see the improvements of the students, and it is also possible to see the students' accomplishments. The teachers feel that once a student has finished the business courses he or she should be able to go straight to work in a business office. Vocational arts broaden visions

The vocational arts department provides learning activities in which students gain both skill and knowledge. With a vocational arts education, the student acquires special abilities through research and learning experiences. Industrial arts involves problem-solving through creative thinking and applying principles of planning and design. Industrial arts provides construction, production, and planning activities which enable students to develop skill in the safe use of tools and machines.

The function of the foreign language department is to teach the language as a means of communication and as a tool for understanding different people and cultures in hope that the students' understanding of these differences will bring a better understanding between the people of the world. "It would be my hope that more students would understand the importance of knowing another language, and I would hope that more students would study a foreign language." — Robert Galvin

The instructional materials center is headed up by Nick Panico, who is assisted by Elizabeth Polovina, the library aide and Rose Gottuso, the audio-visual director. Covering body, mind, and soul

Physical education helps to build the body and strengthen muscles. Everyone needs exercise to help keep looking in top shape. Just as other classes improve and strengthen the mind, physical education classes build the body. With the guidance from teachers, anyone with patience can let their inner person become a reality by building physical strength, stamina, coordination, and grace.

The health classes teach how to improve the body through the use of the mind. Topics such as diet and hygiene are discussed. Classes also include the emotional aspect of healthiness.

Language skill teaches values

A new course called Advanced Placement English was offered this year for seniors only. The department believes that the teachers of English should provide students with opportunities to improve their use in understanding of language. Also, the department should provide the students with opportunities to improve their skills of thinking clearly, critically, and logically. Finally, they should provide them with opportunities to clarify their own values and to learn how to learn. "The process of education is devoted to the teaching of the "three R's." — J. Science offers modern methods

A new course was offered this year in the science department. The course — senior science for senior high only — picks up where ninth grade science left off. Senior science combines physics, chemistry, earth, and space science. The science department tries to keep up with the modern trends in education. Members of the department are made aware of the new changes through mailings or information, and they have opportunities of attending seminars or mini-courses. Social studies offer a variety

Social studies should, and does, provide the necessary tools to analyze the past, evaluate the present, and use these results to deal with unforeseen future events.

Revealing conflicting opinions and heated emotions, students participate in any class argument available. History, civics, psychology, and government teachers probe the who's, where's, when's, what's, and how's of man's behavior.

The background given to the students at Lincoln High School through their social studies courses will give them further insight into problems as presentday Americans. Workers provide nourishing food

In order to help curb inflation, yet still provide a nutritional meal, Key Management Service was called upon to do the book work involved in running a cafeteria.

The four food groups provide the basis for the nourishing meals the staff offers every day. Preparations begin a long time before anyone else is in the building and continue all morning long. Providing meals that are tasty and nourishing, yet inexpensive, is a difficult job the staff performs well. The cafeteria workers cook the mass quantities of food needed to satisfy the seemingly never-ending line of hungry students.

Staff performs essential role

Keeping our facilities in operating order is the goal of the maintenance staff. This is achieved by repairing or replacing items that have been damaged, vandalized, or have simply worn out. Much of the work performed is done after school hours when no one can see the effort that goes into keeping the school clean. Some of the duties assigned to the staff include general maintenance of the building, sweeping halls, and corridors, keeping desks, lockers and blackboards washed and cleaning up after students in the cafeteria.

UNDERCLASS

Freshmen strive towards the top

The freshman class met with some new and different challenges. This was the year they could finally participate in many activities. Joining various clubs such as the language clubs, bowling and Y-Teens, added excitement into some of the students' lives. Track, basketball and football gave students a chance to show off their athletic ability. Experiencing change in themselves wasn't easy for they gained some responsibility that they didn't have before. They learned how to be the leaders of the junior high. This year was filled with the experiences of growing up. Finding a basis for better studying habits were some students' ambitions. Enthusiasm seemed to be the key that filled the freshman's spirit in whatever they did. They were faced with their first challenges of starting their high school years. Striving to be on top was what the freshmen did.

Sophomores have enjoyable times

Seven, eight, nine, TEN ... Sophomores. The sophomores of Lincoln have experienced Senior High life. All the sophomores participated in, In-Class Drivers' Education. Some even had a crack at behind-the-wheel driving. Eating lunch sixth period proved to be a privilege. Some of the students will remember sophomore year as their first attempt at dissecting a frog! Others will remember the fun they had trying to outyell competitors at pep rallies. Leading the sophomore class to a year of success were: Linde Ghery, president; Carol Adams, vice president; Michelle Selva, secretary; Lisa Spaniel, treasurer. Sponsoring the class were Beth Schuller and Steve Wyszomierski. The excellent salesmanship of Chris Prestia, who sold $601 in the sophomore candy sale, encouraged the salesmen toward their goals. At the end of the year, the sophomores enjoyed themselves at the annual sophomore class party.

Juniors achieve successful year

The Junior Class of '82 started off the year by electing Terri Suhre as their president under the direction of Iodestars, Mr. Don Hollerman and Mr. Reed Brown. Ordering their class rings proved to be very expensive, but since a class ring is a symbol of seniority, many Juniors felt the memory was more important than the cost. Their traditional candy sale was a grand and successful event. Top salesman was Ron Venezie who sold $549.80 worth of candy. All profits from the candy sale went toward the making of a successful Junior-Senior Prom. The Juniors completed the school year with the production of the prom, which turned out to be a memorable and exciting event for all who attended. The Junior Class proved to have a year that was a steppingstone to their final year as Lincoln High School students.

— Lynn Leisie; Jennifer Kahle

In everyone lies a desire,
A hope for each coming day,
Within you comes an unknown power
That leads you on and shows the way.
These feelings expand like
 a blazing fire,
And that special want is reached —
And there to stay.

SENIORS

Seniors winning promising stars

The Senior Class of 1981 under the leadership of Mr. Hollerman and Mr. Brown expressed enthusiastic school spirit to attain their goals. Every star leads to a new goal, and the seniors reached the major goal of their future. With inspiring officers, cabinet, and sponsors the year proved a success. With everyday full of smiles, frowns, excitement and tears, their goals still prevailed. The class set a record by selling $22,155.55 worth of magazines. The seniors proved that teamwork and cooperation can achieve any desire. This year the class had an AFS student, Laura Piirto from Finland to add special memories and brighter days. We were very glad to have her during this special year. Now we must part with our cherished moments and reach for our outer goals and dreams written in the stars.

New queen wears the royal crown

During the halftime festivities tension filled the air as the onlooking crowd awaited the crowning of the 1981 queen. The girls dressed in fashionable suits displayed an array of elegance. As the girls proceeded on to the field, the crowd expressed overwhelming support for the girl of their choice. The court took their places on the field, silence fell upon the crowd as they awaited in anticipation for the announcer to reveal the name of the fortunate girl. The 1980-81 homecoming queen was Paula Thomas, escorted by Bob Weisz. She was presented with a bouquet of white roses by the senior class President, Ted Borter. As the rest of the court congratulated her, she presented each of them with a rose from her bouquet.

but alive in our hearts

Yesterday you were with us so near,
We walked the path of life we feared.
Today we hold you in our thoughts
We forget the pain that tragedy has brought.

Tomorrow we will never forget the memory of our loving friends,
In time of the sorrow our hearts will mend.
And then thereafter we'll
perhaps meet again,
A time of happiness that will never end.

Within everyone there lies an individual,
Unique in every way.
So strive to reach this special star,
Different, from all others.
Once found, reach beyond —
For there will always be another.

The Dreamer

A dreamer, dreams of the past and then the future.

He is always in the clouds above him thinking of things that will never be.

No matter how hard he tries to improve himself,

He will never achieve the goals he has set for himself.

He will always be a dreamer, dreaming of the past and then the future,

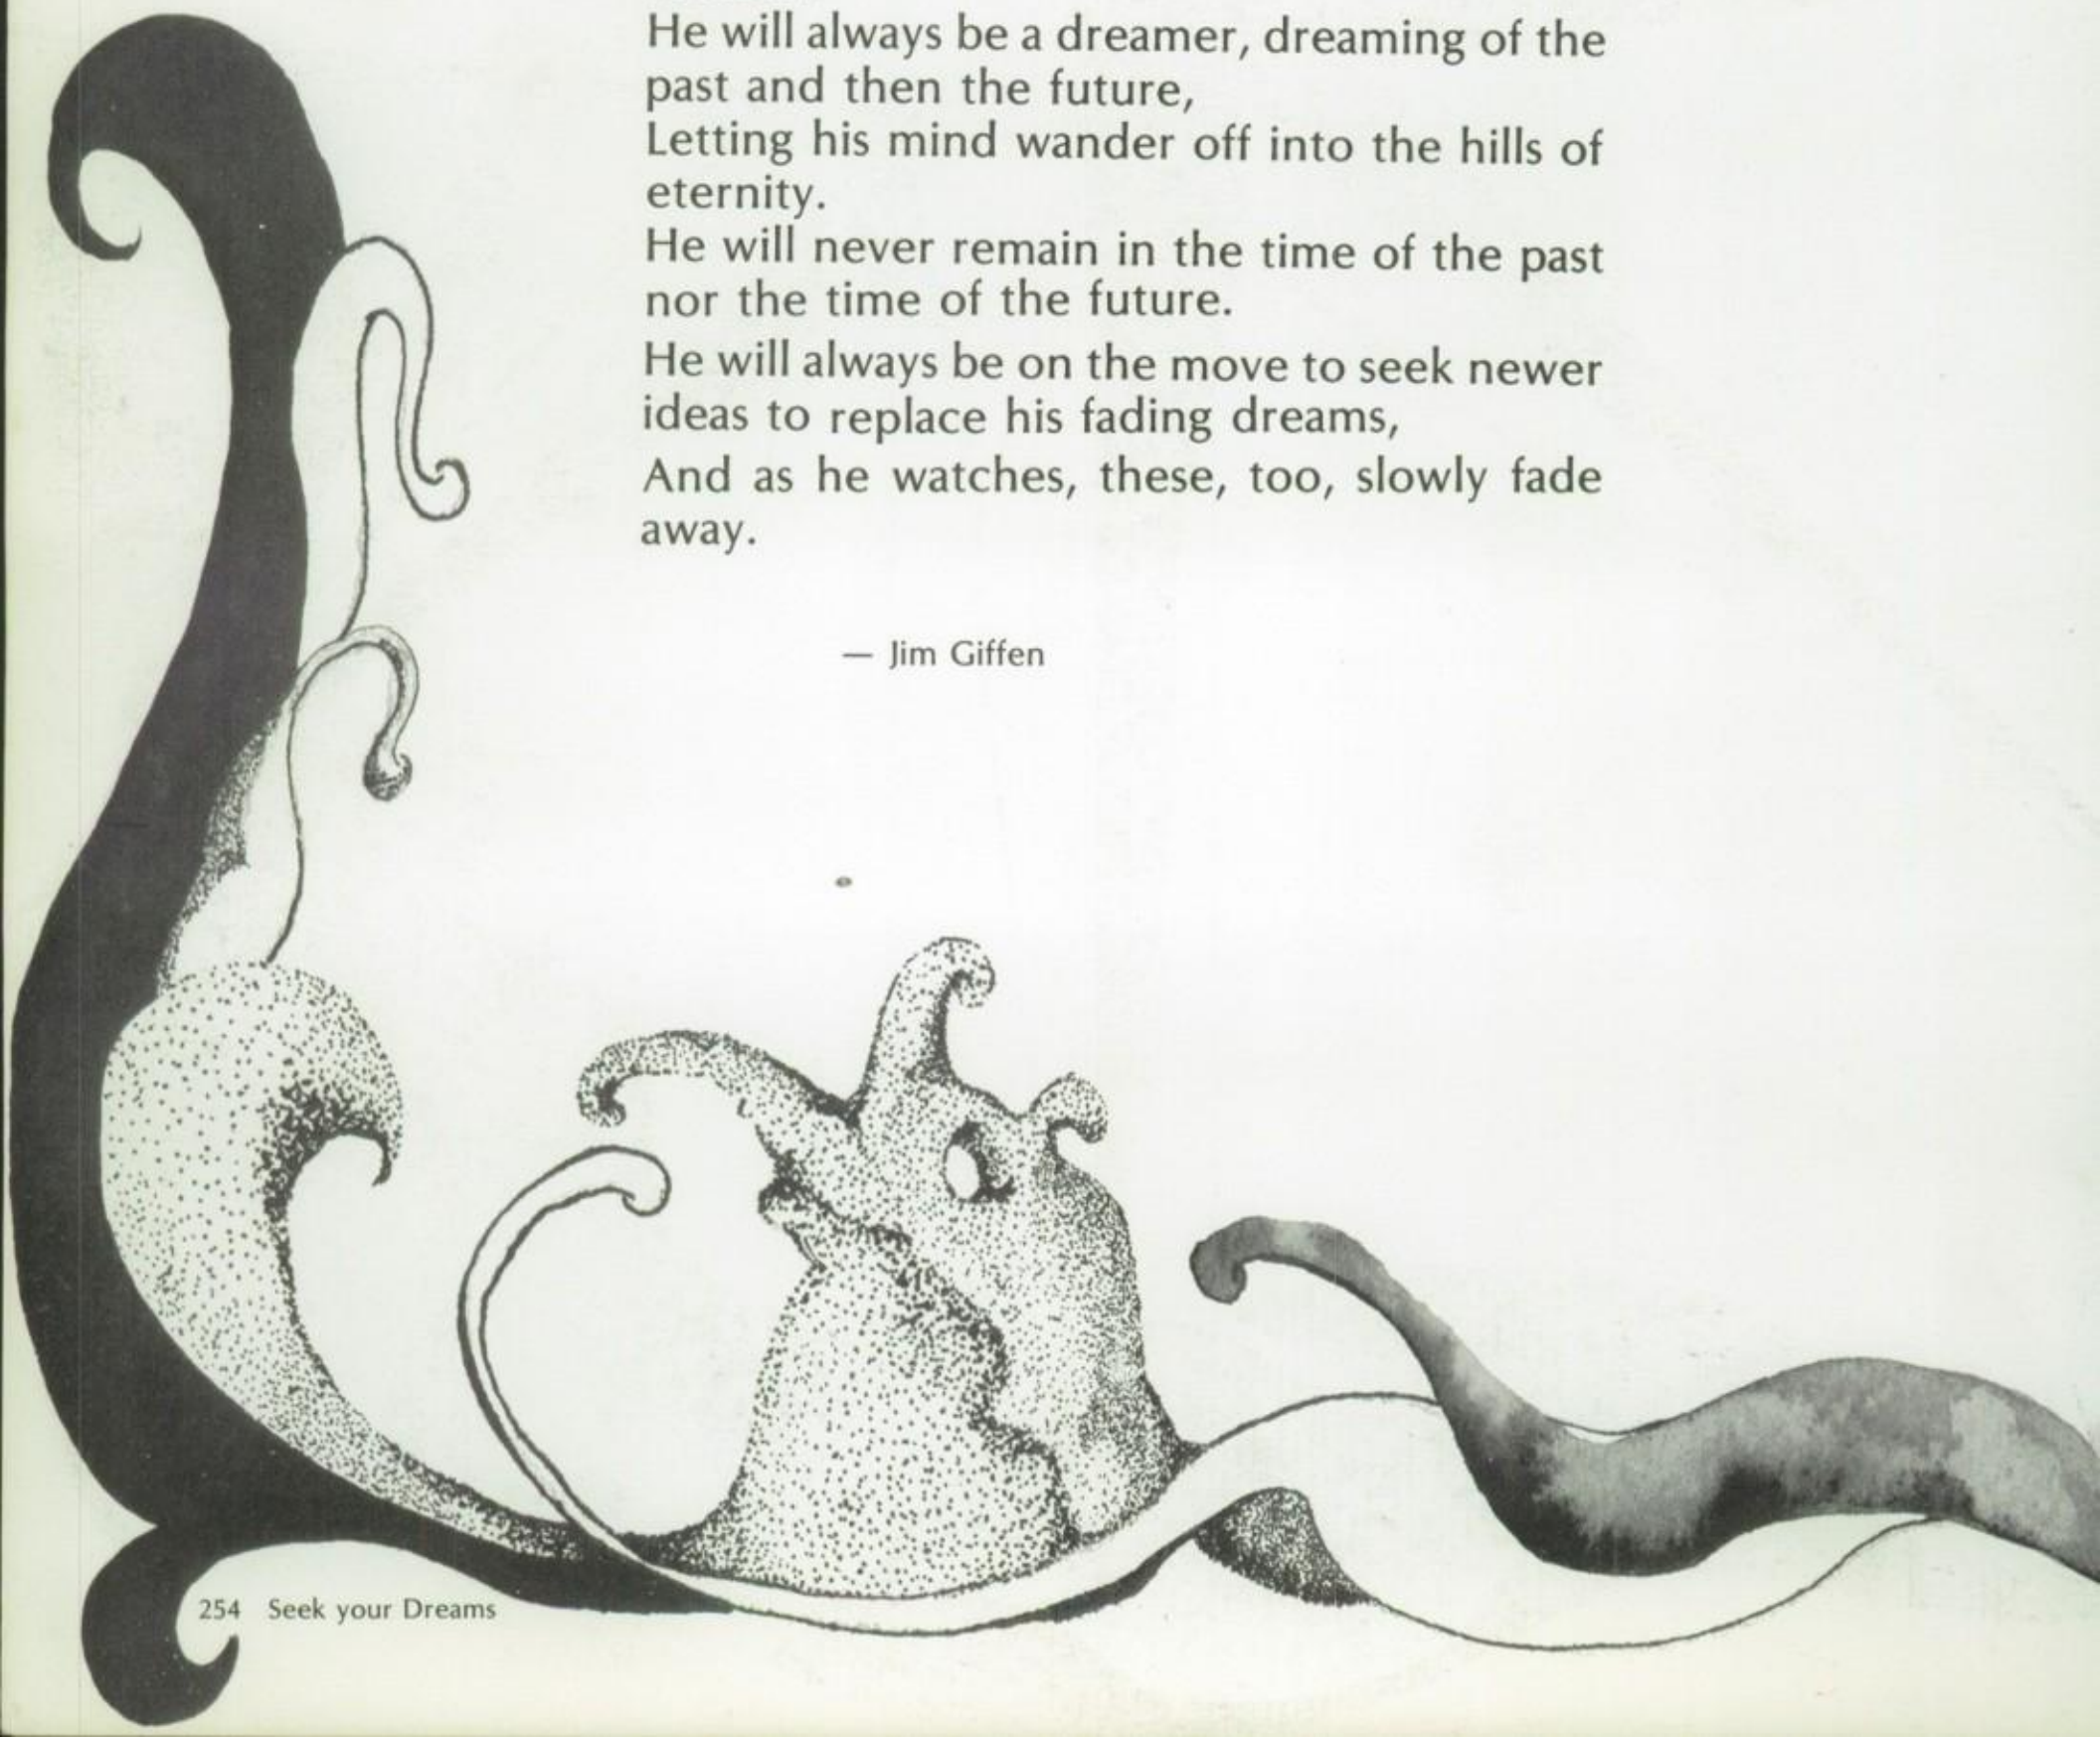

Letting his mind wander off into the hills of eternity.

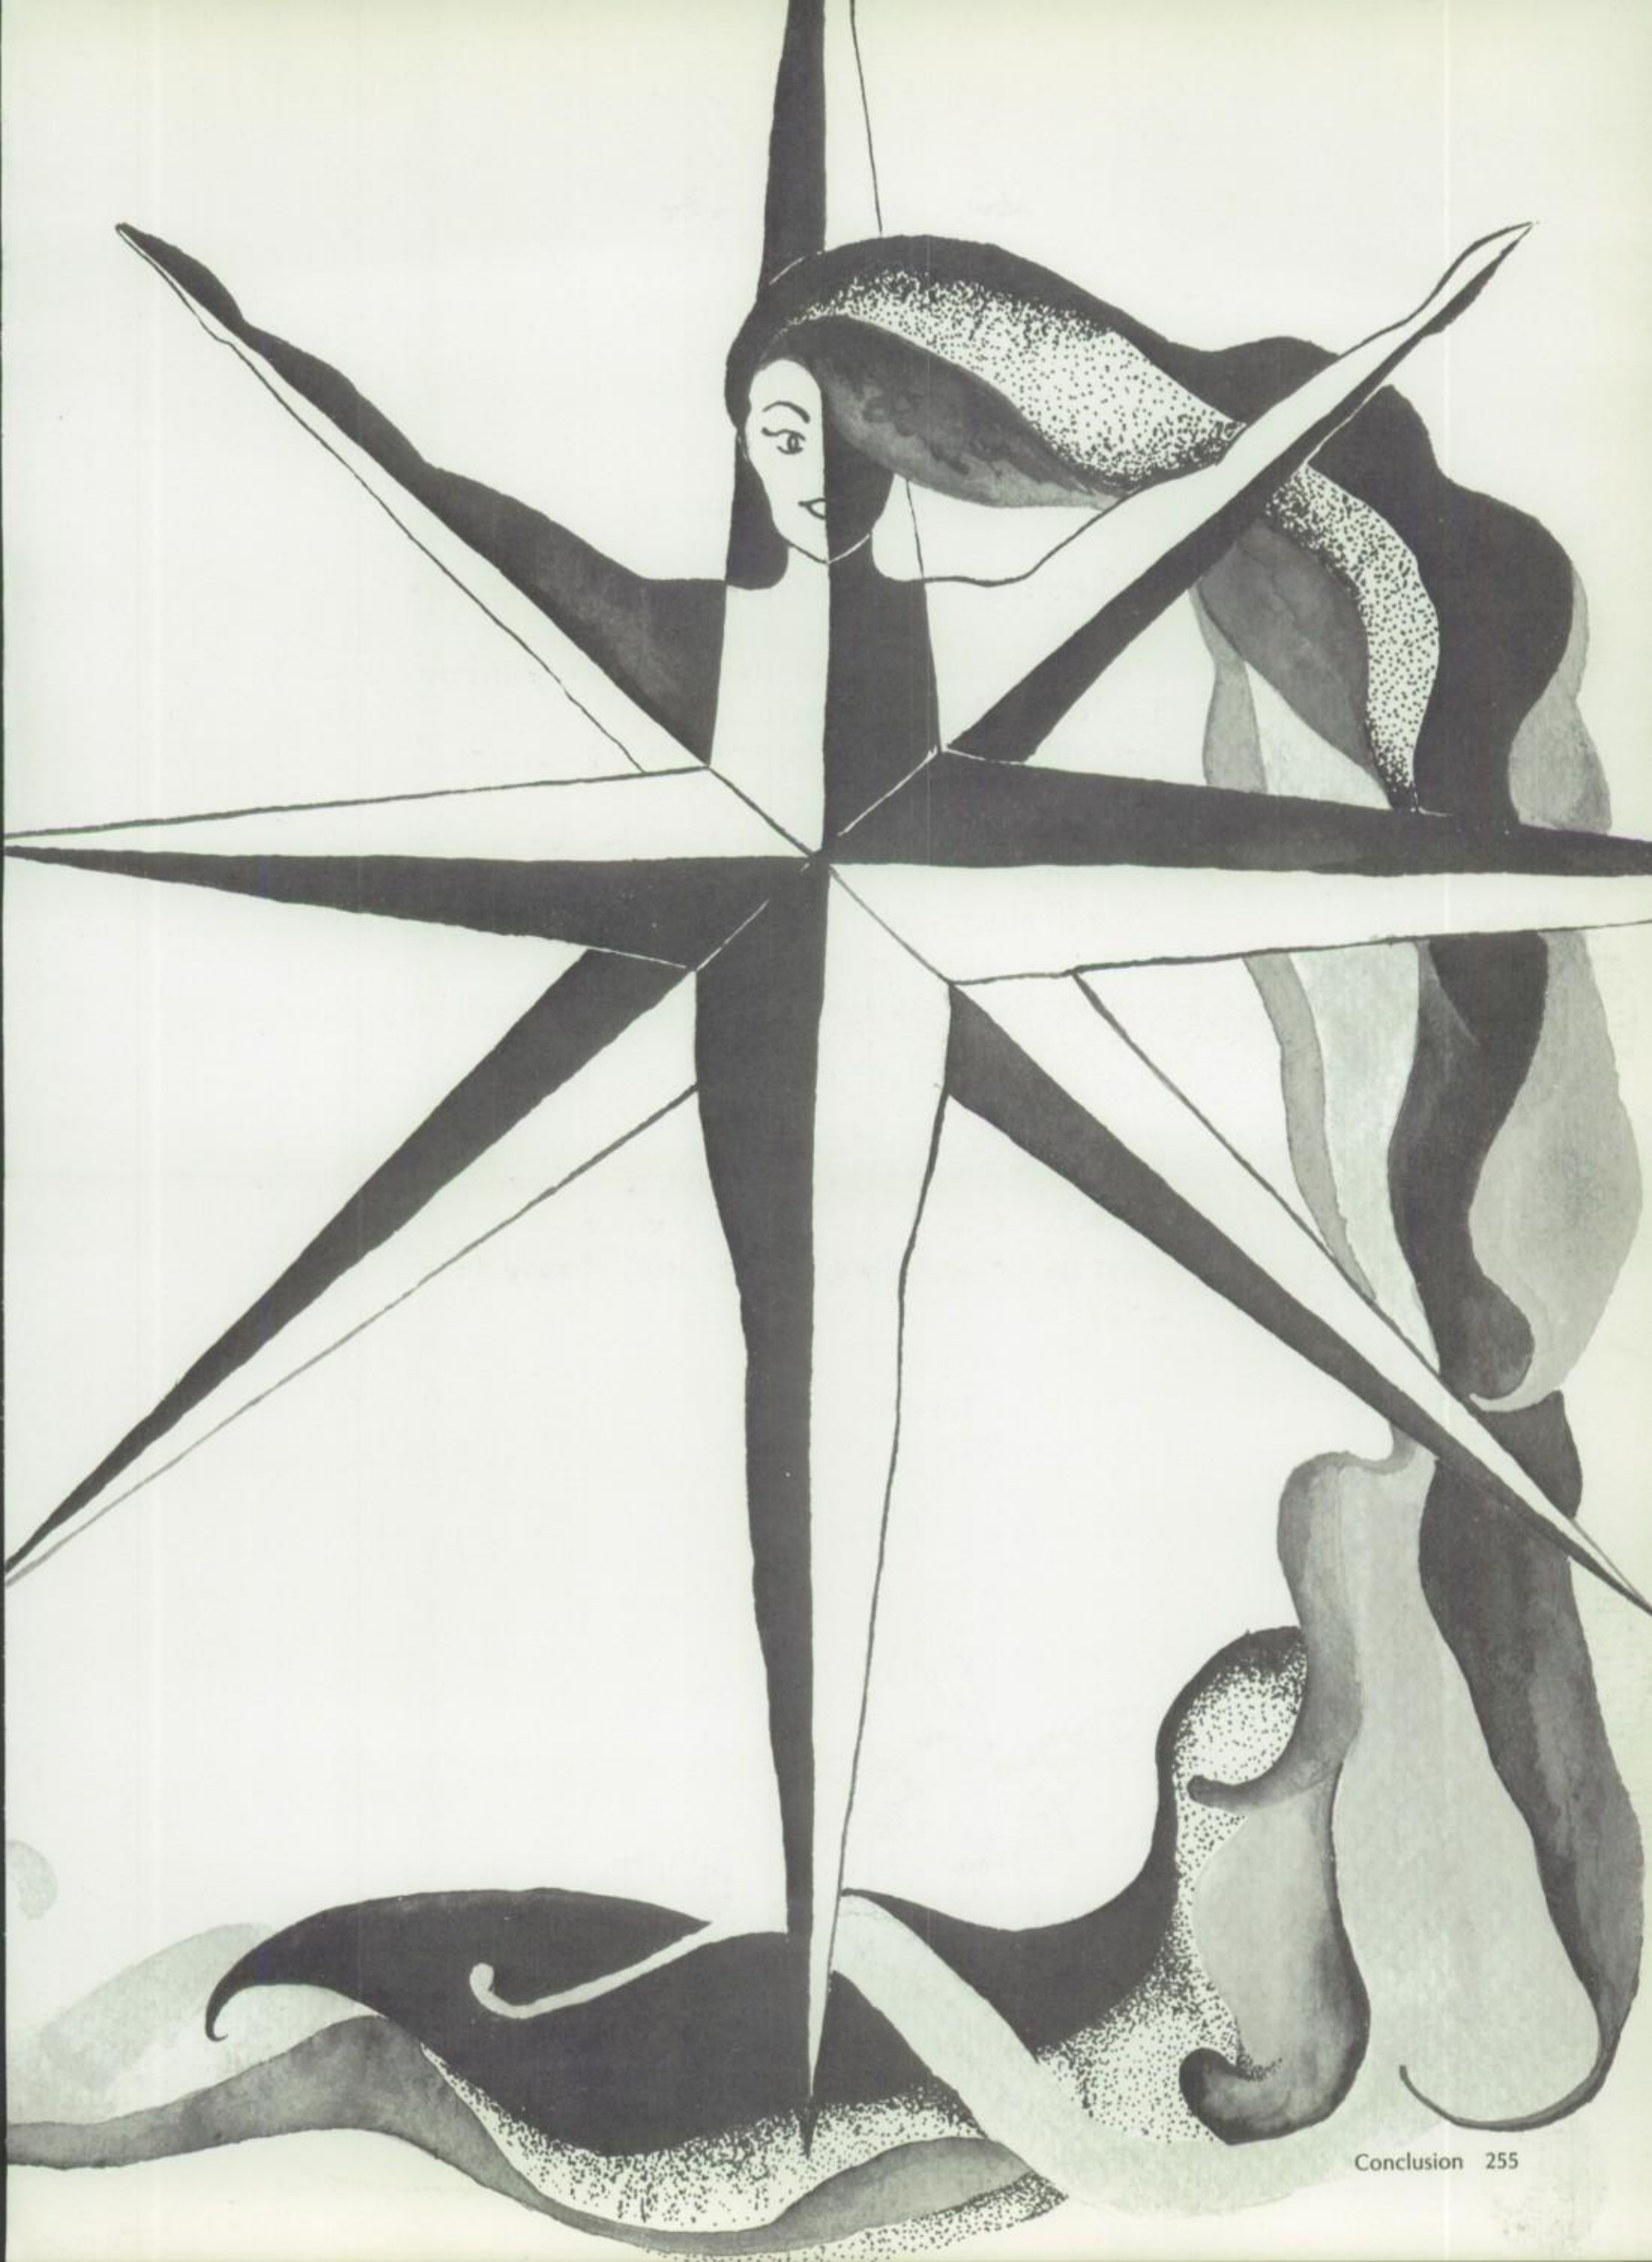

He will never remain in the time of the past nor the time of the future.

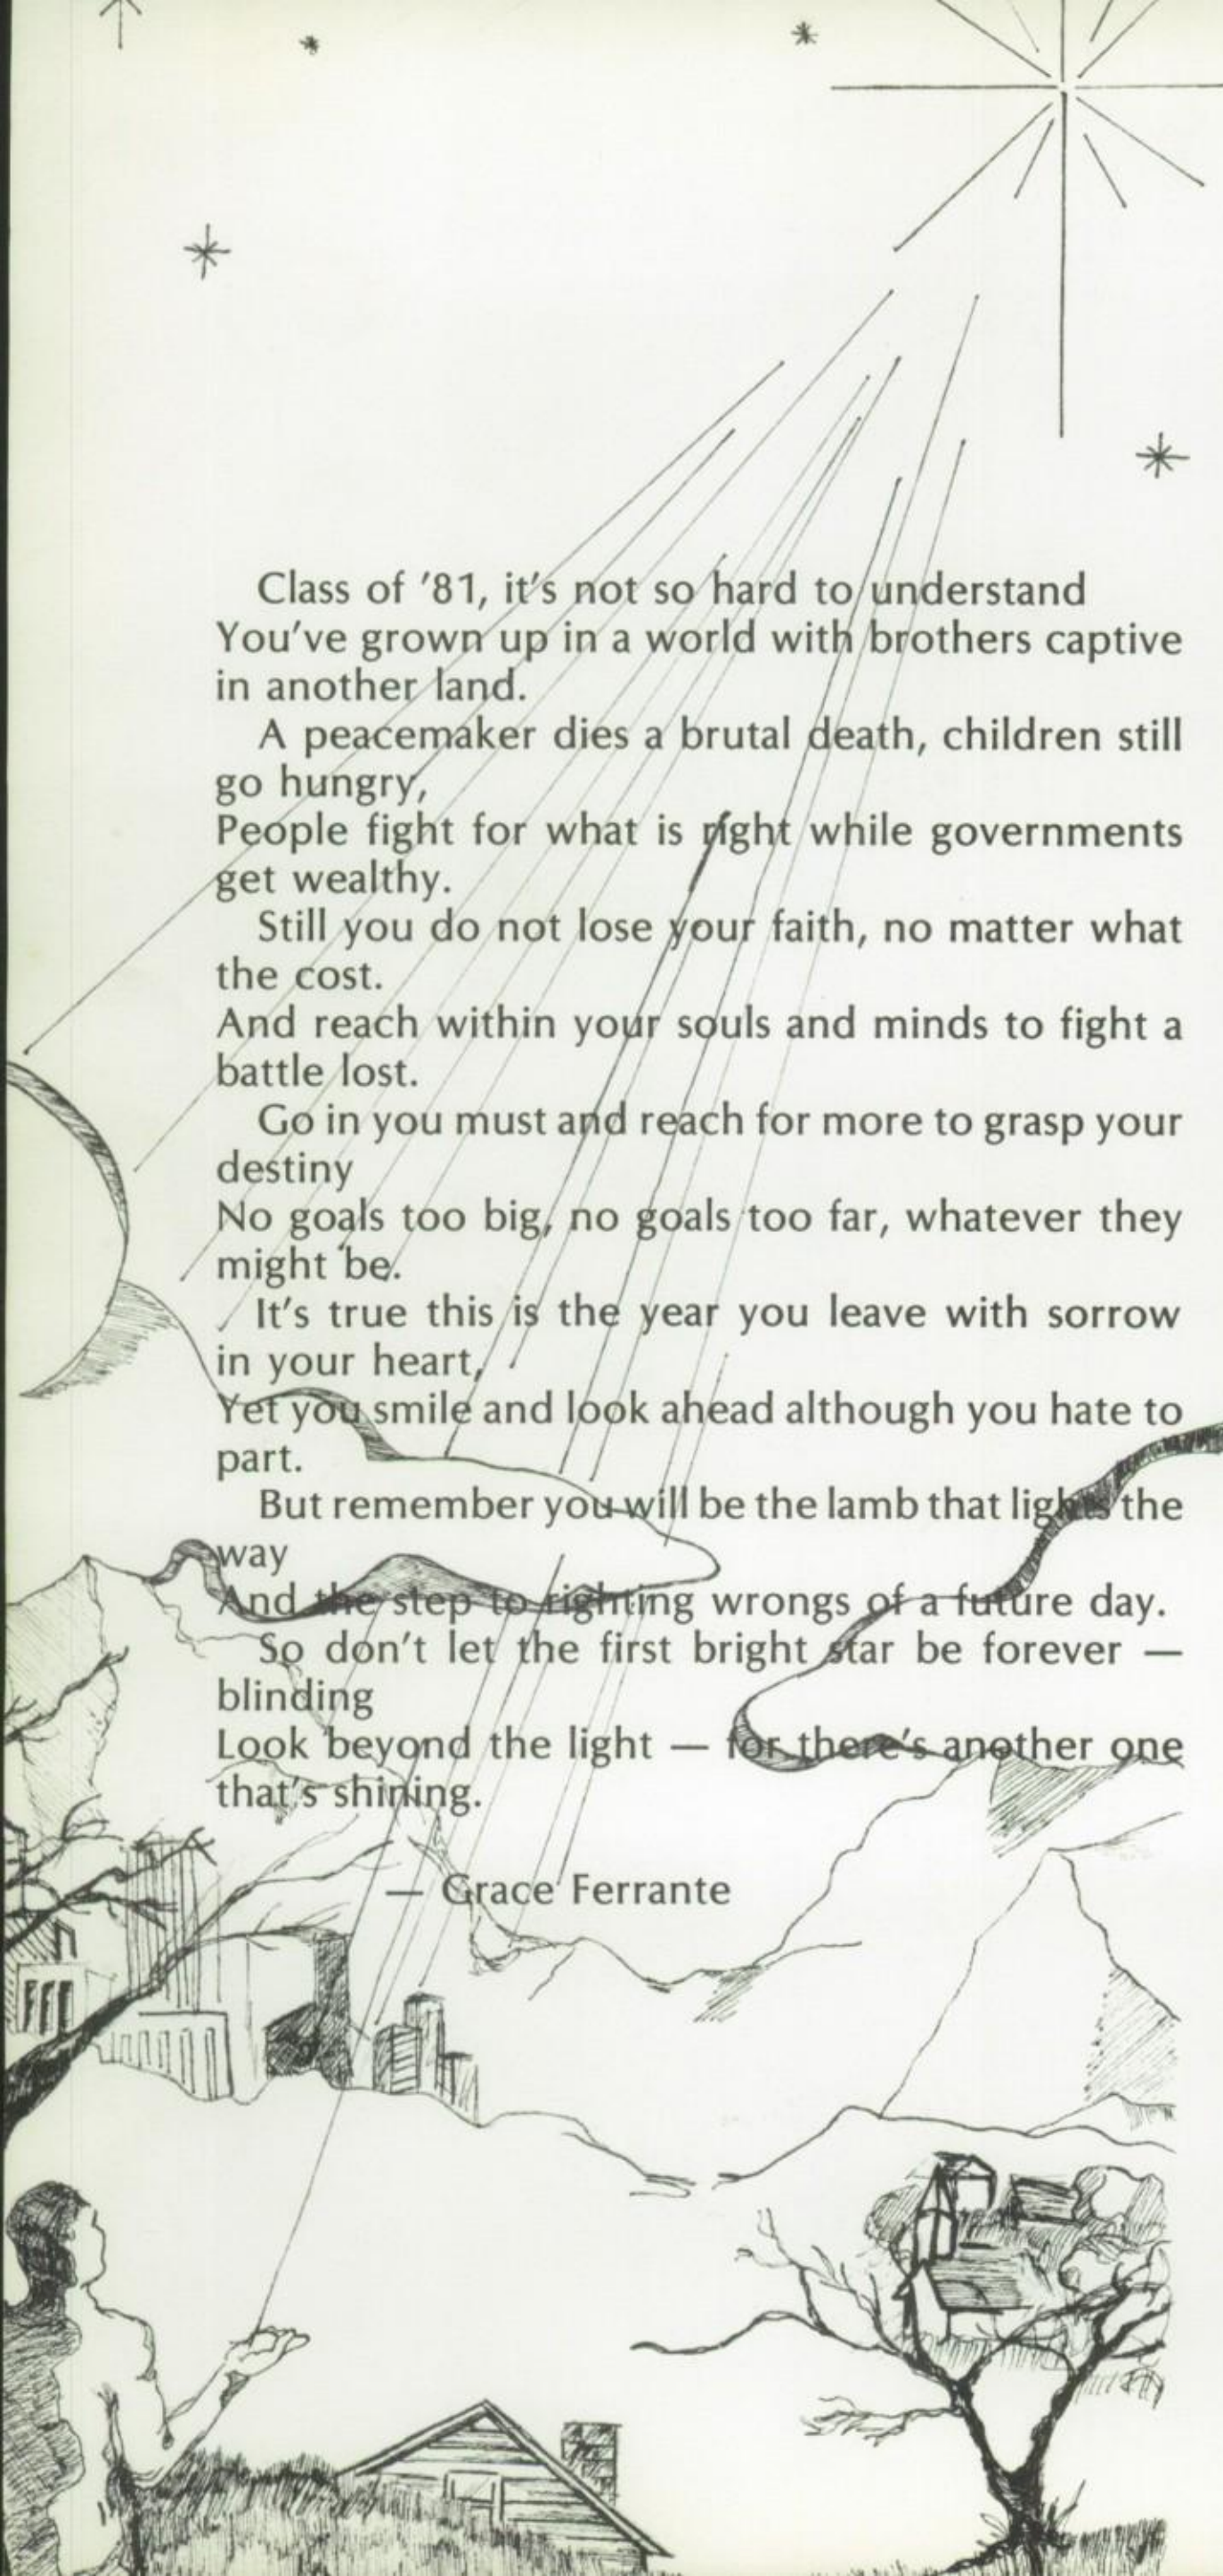

He will always be on the move to seek newer ideas to replace his fading dreams,

And as he watches, these, too, slowly fade away.

— Jim Giffen

Class of '81, it's not so hard to understand
You've grown up in a world with brothers captive in another land.

A peacemaker dies a brutal death, children still go hungry,
People fight for what is right while governments
get wealthy.

Still you do not lose your faith, no matter what the cost.
And reach within your souls and minds to fight a battle lost.

Go in you must and reach for more to grasp your destiny
No goals too big, no goals too far, whatever they might be.

It's true this is the year you leave with sorrow
in your heart,
Yet you smile and look ahead although you hate to part.

But remember you will be the lamb that lights the way
And the step to righting wrongs of a future day.

So don't let the first bright star be forever —
blinding
Look beyond the light — for there's another one that's shining.

The staff extends appreciation to the Ellwood City Ledger, the Lincoln Echo, and Lori Yost for several photographs.

Robin, really to a really nice girl who I met in track. Remember all the fun times and sore muscles we had and Frank (how could you forget) sorry about your ankle. Well, good luck in the future and with Joe.
Friends Always,
Beth

Robin,
to a sweet,
cute, nice, gal
I'd know you a while. Good luck in all you do. And don't ~~forget~~ forget the cutting snow and all we did. See you next fall and hope we became like Stewart (HA) don't forget the good times we've shared! Keep in touch and take care.
Love
